STRIKE PEACE IN DEADLOCK; TOLEDO WAITS

SAN FRANCISCO HAS NEW OUTBREAK OF FIERCE RIOTS

(By The Associated Press)

Here is Monday's strike situation at a glance:

Toledo, O.—The withdrawal of troops at an early date was declared likely by Governor George White, as peace negotiations between strikers and the Electric Auto-Lite company officials continued in deadlock, bringing a truce after six days of rioting.

Laurinburg, N. C.—The fourth and last unit of Waverly Mills, Inc., was closed by strikes, following a riot Sunday night in which eight men were wounded, one possibly fatally.

San Francisco.—Tear bombs were thrown when violence broke out anew on the waterfront here and in San Diego, sending eight men to the hospital, as shippers and striking longshoremen were reported deadlocked in strike negotiations. Between 1,000 and 2,000 took part in the disorders.

Pekin, Ill.—An appeal for national guardsmen was sent to Governor Henry Horner as 1,500 persons gathered at the gates of the American Commercial Alcohol corporation's distillery and kept all but office employes from entering. The action was in protest against the dismissal of many employes.

St. Louis, Mo.—The return to work of half of the employes of packing houses ended a two weeks' strike. The other half was to return within ten days. A minimum work week of 32 hours was provided in the teams of a union contract drawn up by the regional labor board.

Cleveland.—Rioting broke out in Playhouse Square, in the center of downtown Cleveland, when an attempt was made to operate cabs of the Yellow Cab company over the protests of strikers and strike sympathizers. A woman was hit by a large bolt hurled by a strike sympathizer. At the same time, tugmen and tug operators met to seek a basis for a permanent agreement. The men recently ended a strike under a temporary arrangement.

Washington—In an effort to avert a threatened steel strike, Chairman Wagner of the national labor board telegraphed M. F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers to come to Washington for a conference.

Galveston, Tex.—The compress strike, halting movement of cotton from presses to docks for several weeks, was settled.

Sacramento Police Have Torch Murder

Sacramento, Calif., May 28 (AP)—A possible "torch murder" confronted Sacramento police tonight with the finding of a young woman's body soaked with gasoline and set afire in a garage in the rear of an aparement house.

There were no marks of identification among the fragments of her clothing. Police at first believed it to be a case of suicide but later said there was considable evidence that the woman had been burned to death.

A gallon jug, which had contained gasoline, was found beside the body together with several matches, some of which had been struck.

OKLAHOMA BAD FOR KIDNAPERS

Five Held for Stealing 3 Cars and Abducting Six Persons

Pawhuska, Okla., May 28 (AP)—Oklahoma peace officers put a sudden stop to a wave of lawlessness today by arresting five suspects, three of them escaped Sherman, Texas, prisoners.

The five had kidnaped six persons and stolen three automobiles within 24 hours.

At Pawhuska police seized three men who identified themselves as George E. Droddy, 19 years old of Pineville, Mo.; Odrian Petty, 16 years old, of Kilgore, Texas; Roy Batts, 21 years old, of Sherman, Texas, who fled from the Sherman jail Sunday after slugging a guard.

James Dixon of Indianapolis, and Howard Johnson of Denver, arrested at Sayre, were accused of stealing an automobile from B. C. Butler, Tommy Dyon and Glenn Williams of Elk City, kidnaping these three and a hitch-hiker, O. J. Hannington, of Spokane, Wash., but releasing them soon after. The victims identified the kidnapers and recovered their automobile.

The escaped Texas prisoners were trapped in downtown Pawhuska. Apparently they were heading for the Osage hills, long a hideout for criminals.

Early today the three men kidnaped Robert Jones of Dallas on the highway between Ardmore and Turner Falls. They took his automobile and released him unharmed two miles north of Guthrie, when a bearing burned in his car.

The fugitives then stopped an approaching automobile and forced Phillip Oigner, Perry farmer, to accompany them. Jones reported the incident to Logan county authorities who broadcast a statewide warning.

Detroit Postoffice Vault Is Wrecked

Detroit, (AP)—The interior of the branch post office in suburban Lincoln park was wrecked early Monday by a heavy charge of nitroglycerine set off by burglars to open a safe. Officials said the loss was about $700, of which $500 was in stamps. Three men seen running from the building fled in a car, which police said was stolen.

Detroit, May 30 (AP)—The trial of Dr. Paul H. Voelker, state superintendent of public instruction, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter for a traffic fatality, has been postponed until Thursday. The case will be tried by Judge John J. Maher.

GLOOM RULES IN ARMAMENT TALK OPENING

EUROPEAN NATIONS FEAR COLLAPSE OF MOVEMENT

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Geneva, May 28 (AP)—A gloomy atmosphere prevailed today as delegates to the disarmament conference made plans to open their discussions tomorrow.

The impression was general, after a rather perfunctory meeting of the steering committee, that European nations were sparring for position, each determined not to be held responsible for a collapse of the conference.

Await U. S. Proposal

Hope that Norman Davis, United States representative, or Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, may have a proposal which would prevent a complete failure was expressed in some quarters.

Davis was expected to recommend stricter supervision of traffic in arms and munitions be undertaken. Litvinoff is looked to for a plan of mutual assistance pacts.

Arthur Henderson, chairman of the conference, warned the steering committee that "the gravity of the situation commands more than ever the unflagging determination to secure a convention."

Arrangements had been made for a world-wide broadcast of tomorrow's proceedings. But subsequently the broadcast was called off, some delegates insisting the addresses would be fragmentary and give a false idea.

Situation Grave

The chairman said the French memorandum of April 17, stating that France would be unable to accept reduction of armaments if Germany rearms, showed the futility of proceeding with governmental negotiations.

Comment among delegates and observers centered on the steadily increasing armaments of the world since the conference began.

Reports that Russia would oppose any moves which would bring Germany back into the conference persisted. Litvinoff only smiled and evaded questions on this and other subjects.

Asked about the report that the Soviet Union will seek league membership, he replied: "The newspapers say so."

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, emphasized privately Britain's contention she has done all that can be expected in the way of armament reduction and is not inclined to lead the way any longer.

A conference of British and American representatives during the morning ended with expressions that the situation is grave and collapse is certain unless some

Quintuplets, All Girls, Born to Ontario Pair

Corbell, Ont., May 28 (AP)—Five baby girls, the largest weighing three pounds and four ounces and the smallest a pound less, were born today to Mrs. Oliva Dionne in her farm home two miles from here.

Visitors found the 24-year-old mother and the babies in good condition and the father, seven years older than his wife, busy at his chores.

There are five other children in the family, the oldest, Ernest, being seven. One other child of the couple, who were married in September, 1925, died.

"Oh, pretty good," said Mrs. Dionne after her French nurse interpreted to her inquiries as to how she was feeling.

"Well, do you feel proud of yourself?" the father was asked.

"I'm the kind of fellow they should put in jail," he answered.

A potato scale was produced and each of the loudly howling infants was placed on it.

The little girl identified as the oldest of the five weighed three pounds and four ounces and the two youngest registered two pounds and four ounces each. The total weight of all five was 13 pounds and six ounces.

The father was torn between pleasure at the unexpectedly large addition to his family and the thought of the financial burden.

He said he is going to do the best he can, but stressed the fact he is not exactly built for hard work, being five feet and eight inches tall and weighing only 130 pounds. His wife is slightly

Havana Terrorists Attack Americans

BY EDMUND A. CHESTER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Havana, May 28 (AP)—Anti-American terrorists today followed up their attack on the residence of Ambassador Jefferson Caffery by waylaying the automobile of the first secretary of the embassy and breaking the windshield.

The first secretary, H. Freeman Matthews, was not in the car at the time. One of the four gunmen who forced the chauffeur to the curb remarked as he struck the windshield with his pistol: "This is for Matthews."

After the attack, Ambassador Caffery revealed that the shooting at his residence last night, resulting in the serious injury of a soldier guard, was the second such attempt, the house having been fired upon three weeks ago.

"We want to tell you to get out of Havana within two weeks," Matthews' chauffeur, Charles Taylor of Washington, D. C., quoted one of the gunmen as saying. "This is your last trip to town. Don't drive Matthews' car any more."

The gunmen's threats intensified the police precautions against anti-American elements in Havana, who were described Saturday by police officials as plotting to kill the ambassador and destroy property of citizens of the United States.

After the shooting last night, a special session of the Cuban cabinet was called, and it was understood that acts of terrorism against Americans were discussed at length.

NAZIS AND REDS DEFY DOLLFUSS

Bombings and Terrorism Continued Despite Death Decree

BY WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Vienna, May 28, (AP)—Opposition elements in Austria—Nazis, Socialists and Communists—qualified for the hangman's noose by the score today by setting off bombs and engaging in other depredations in defiance of the new edicts of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In the home town of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, Branau on the Austro-German border, the municipal electric plant was put out of commission and the waterworks crippled by bombs. Troops were placed in control of the city.

The bombs and other terrorist acts apparently presented the answer of the oppositionists to the new decree making such acts punishable by death after trial by court martial.

A school house and the home of a professor in Linz, upper Austria, were the targets of explosives.

A statue of former Emperor Franz Josef at Bischofshofen near Saltzburg, was painted red during the night and decorated with an inscription "No more war."

Manitowoc, Wis., May 28 (AP)—Three steamships of the fleet of the bankrupt Goodrich Transit company today were sold by a U. S. marshal at public auction here to A. M. Hewitt, Chicago attorney representing the bondholders, for $35,000. The ships—the Alabama, one-time flagship of the fleet, the Christopher Columbus, whaleback excursion steamer, and the Carolina—were sold to satisfy a mortgage of $179,800 held by the First National Bank of

Welfare Relief Rolls Reduced; Expenses Lower

Lansing, Mich., May 28 (AP)—The state emergency welfare relief commission today announced a reduction of 7,016 families on relief rolls within the last month.

The announcement said that May relief roll total amounted to 139,138 families compared with a peak load for the year to 146,184 in April. William Haber, state relief administrator, said he expected the number will drop to 133,00 in June.

Haber expressed a belief that the June relief bill will not exceed $3,600,000 compared with $4,000,000 in May.

The commission reported continued increases in the number of persons employed at wages. More than 51,000 persons were employed on work projects for the third week in May with the weekly wage payroll exceeding $600,000.

HALF BILLION DUE ON DEBTS THIS JUNE 15

THIRTEEN NATIONS ARE NOTIFIED TO PAY UP

Washington, May 28 (AP)—The United States has notified thirteen European debtor nations that they are in debt to the United States treasury to the tune of almost half a billion dollars and asked that they pay up on June 15.

Statements of accounts due were dispatched to ten embassies and legations today, completing the list of nations having payments due next month. The note called their attention to all their existing indebtedness, including the amounts unpaid by them previously. The British, French and Belgian ambassadors were given similar notes on Saturday.

Today's notes were dispatched on the eve of President Roosevelt's war debts message which probably will be sent to congress sometime tomorrow.

$300,000,000 in Arrears

The state department took cognizance of the Johnson act in asking the debtor nations for their total past due accounts as well as accounts due June 15.

In most instances debtor nations are behind in their payments from June, 1933, and the multiplying principal installments and interest is now around the half billion mark.

Five nations have, in the past, made token payments and they were requested to pay the amounts remaining unpaid at the time the partial payments were remitted.

The thirteen nations owe $174,647,439 in payments falling due June 15, of which $56,633,701 is principal amount, $103,088,891 is interest on total, and $14,924,845 is due to the moratorium.

Approximately $300,000,000 is due from past due accounts.

BRITAIN PUZZLED

London, May 28 (AP)—Government leaders today began considering the thorny question of what attitude to adopt when Great Britain's war debt payment to the United States comes due June 15.

Indications were their decision will be kept secret until shortly before the date set for the remittance.

Several private talks on the debt question followed the arrival, one by one, of the government officials concerned. All of them are expected back in London by tomorrow in preparation for the reassembling of parliament Wednesday.

Wednesday is also the day for cabinet meetings and a review of the debt situation is understood to be scheduled for the forthcoming reunion.

THOMAS' TALK ENDS IN PANIC

Tear Gas Bomb Hurled Through Window at Rockford, Ill.

Rockford, Ill., May 28 (AP)—One woman fainted and two men suffered injuries tonight when a tear gas bomb was tossed into a hall where Norman Thomas, former presidential candidate for the Socialist party, was speaking.

A near-panic was created as the fumes spread through the building. The 400 or more persons in the audience dashed for doors, choking and blinded.

One woman fainted as the crowd surged out. She was revived quickly and apparently suffered no ill effects from the gas. Ellis Leckard, Rockford representative for Amtorg Trading corporation, Soviet trading agency in this country, was bruised on the leg. Sitting near the window through which the bomb was tossed, he was struck by it. Edward Copeland, 46, Rockford, suffered a broken shoulder when caught in the crush of the crowd.

When order was restored Thomas continued his address outside, making little comment on the incident other than to say "This is the first time I've ever been gassed while I was speaking."

It was the second time Thomas' attempts to speak in Illinois had been interrupted on his present tour. A few night ago at Taylorville, in the heart of the state's coal mine controversy, sheriff's deputies detained him in the court house for an hour after leading him from the platform where he started to talk. The officers explained that no permit had been given him to speak.

Sawmills Report Employment Gain

Washington, May 28, (AP)—The National Lumber Manufacturers association said sawmill employment in April gained 5.3 per cent over the preceding month and was 53.8 per cent above the same month a year ago. It stated the average payroll for sawmills climbed 9 per cent over the preceding month and was 120.6 abov' April 1933. Milwork plants reported to the department of labor that April employment was 4.9 per cent above the preceding month and 34 per cent above April 1933. Payrolls climbed 6.1 per cent in April over March and 60.8 per cent above April 1933.

THREE BODIES SOUGHT

Dowagiac, May 28 (AP)—Authorities Monday dragged Darron Lake, Cass county, for the bodies of three Mishawaka, Ind., youths believed to have drowned Sunday night. The youths—Morris De Saer, 19, Morris Oeghorn, 20, and August De Noble, 18—were reported missing by two companions. De Noble's pocketbook was found floating on the lake and an empty rowboat, with one oar missing was also discovered.

Sale of Arms Banned To Bolivia, Paraguay

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, May 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt outlawed the sale of munitions in this country to Bolivia and Paraguay tonight in an unprecedented move to end the disastrous war raging for more than a year in the South American interior.

The chief executive signed a proclamation to that effect under authority of a resolution whipped through congress at his request and warned that all violations "will be rigorously prosecuted."

The proclamation recited that he had been assured of the cooperation of other governments, without whose assistance his advisers believed tonight's action might fall far short of success.

State department authorities

American history to compare with the banning of the sale of arms in this country to the belligerants. There have been cases in which the Washington government has banned arms shipments to South American nations in which revolution and civil war were rampant. But there are no historical comparisons for stopping the sale of munitions to two fighting countries.

American manufacturers sold $1,050,045 worth of war implement to Bolivia last year and $94,483 to Paraguay. For the first three months of this year the shipments totaled $509,506 to Bolivia, or at almost a double rate. For the three months sales to Paraguay totaled $175,718.

FRENCH ACES CROSS OCEAN IN 38 HOURS

SILVER MONOPLANE FAILS TO REACH CALIFORNIA

(By The Associated Press)

Courageous French birdmen added new glories to the aviation history of their country yesterday with the successful completion of two trans-Atlantic flights.

Covering 3,700 miles in 38 hours and 28 minutes, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi landed their huge silver monoplane, the Joseph Lebrix, at Floyd Bennett Field, New York. The fliers had spanned the North Atlantic but fell 2,400 miles short of their goal—San Diego, Cal.

Zeppelin Enroute

The heroes of the other flight, Jean Mermoz and M. Darby, crossed the South Atlantic from St. Louis, Senegal, to Natal, Brazil. They made their 1,900 mile trip in 15 hours and 5 minutes as a demonstration of the practicability of a regular South Atlantic air mail service.

Also soaring above the south Atlantic but at a more leisurely gait, was the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, also bearing mail from Europe to South America.

A flat tire ended Pilot William B. Lester's attempt to break the Dallas-Chicago commercial speed plane record when he landed in St. Louis two hours and 52 minutes after the takeoff. The time on his "Vultee," single-motored ship, could not be replaced.

BY R. H. HIPPELHEUSER

New York, May 28 (AP)—The French aces, Captain Maurice Rossi and Lieutenant Paul Codos, conquered the Atlantic by air again today with new honors and, paradoxically, shattered hopes.

Heavy vibration of the wings caused them to land their silver monoplane, the Joseph Lebrix, at Floyd Bennett field at 1:38 p. m. (EST)—clear across the continent from California, their nonstop goal when they left Lebourget field in Paris 38 hours and 28 minutes before.

Made Hop Twice

But they achieved the fame of being first to fly the Atlantic in both directions and were the second to make the westward crossing from Paris to New York.

Their own long distance flight record, set last year from New York to Syria in the same ship, still stands.

The first words of the weary fliers reflected their disappointment. Then after a brief rest at a hotel and a quart of chilled champagne they agreed the flight performance was not so bad, after all.

"I am very, very sorry," said

Geneva, May 28 (AP)—A gloomy atmosphere prevailed today as delegates to the disarmament conference made plans to open their discussions tomorrow.

The impression was general, after a rather perfunctory meeting of the steering committee, that European nations were sparring for position, each determined not to be held responsible for a collapse of the conference.

Await U. S. Proposal

Hope that Norman Davis, United States representative, or Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, may have a proposal which would prevent a complete failure was expressed in some quarters.

Davis was expected to recommend stricter supervision of traffic in arms and munitions be undertaken. Litvinoff is looked to for a plan of mutual assistance pacts.

Arthur Henderson, chairman of the conference, warned the steering committee that "the gravity of the situation commands more than ever the unflagging determination to secure a convention."

Arrangements had been made for a world-wide broadcast of tomorrow's proceedings. But subsequently the broadcast was called off, some delegates insisting the addresses would be fragmentary and give a false idea.

Situation Grave

The chairman said the French memorandum of April 17, stating that France would be unable to accept reduction of armaments if Germany rearms, showed the futility of proceeding with governmental negotiations.

Comment among delegates and observers centered on the steadily increasing armaments of the world since the conference began.

Reports that Russia would oppose any moves which would bring Germany back into the conference persisted. Litvinoff only smiled and evaded questions on this and other subjects.

Asked about the report that the Soviet Union will seek league membership, he replied: "The newspapers say so."

The only other speaker at the committee meeting was Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, who demanded the conference be saved from collapse.

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, emphasized privately Britain's contention she has done all that can be expected in the way of armament reduction and is not inclined to lead the way any longer.

A conference of British and American representatives during the morning ended with expressions that the situation is grave and collapse is certain unless some

Havana Terrorists Attack Americans

BY EDMUND A. CHESTER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Havana, May 28 (AP)—Anti-American terrorists today followed up their attack on the residence of Ambassador Jefferson Caffery by waylaying the automobile of the first secretary of the embassy and breaking the windshield.

The first secretary, H. Freeman Matthews, was not in the car at the time. One of the four gunmen who forced the chauffeur to the curb remarked as he struck the windshield with his pistol: "This is for Matthews."

After the attack, Ambassador Caffery revealed that the shooting at his residence last night, resulting in the serious injury of a soldier guard, was the second such attempt, the house having been fired upon three weeks ago.

We want to tell you to get out of Havana within two weeks," Matthews' chauffeur, Charles Taylor of Washington, D. C., quoted one of the gunmen as saying. "This is your last trip to town. Don't drive Matthews' car any more."

The gunmen's threats intensified the police precautions against anti-American elements in Havana, who were described Saturday by police officials as plotting to kill the ambassador and destroy property of citizens of the United States.

After the shooting last night, a special session of the Cuban cabinet was called, and it was understood that acts of terrorism against Americans were discussed at length.

Bombings and Terrorism Continued Despite Death Decree

BY WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Vienna, May 28, (AP)—Opposition elements in Austria—Nazis, Socialists and Communists—qualified for the hangman's noose by the score today by setting off bombs and engaging in other depredations in defiance of the new edicts of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In the home town of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, Branau on the Austro-German border, the municipal electric plant was put out of commission and the waterworks crippled by bombs. Troops were placed in control of the city.

The bombs and other terrorist acts apparently presented the answer of the oppositionists to the new decree making such acts punishable by death after trial by court martial.

A school house and the home of a professor in Linz, upper Austria, were the targets of explosives.

Welfare Relief Rolls Reduced; Expenses Lower

Lansing, Mich., May 28 (AP)—The state emergency welfare relief commission today announced a reduction of 7,046 families on relief rolls within the last month.

The announcement said that May relief roll total amounted to 139,138 families compared with a peak load for the year to 146,184 in April. William Haber, state relief administrator, said he expected the number will drop to 133,00 in June.

Haber expressed a belief that the June relief bill will not exceed $3,600,000 compared with $4,000,000 in May.

The commission reported continued increases in the number of persons employed at wages. More than 51,000 persons were employed on work projects for the third week in May with the weekly wage payroll exceeding $600,000.

Quintuplets, All Girls, Born to Ontario Pair

Corbeil, Ont., May 28 (AP)—Five baby girls, the largest weighing three pounds and four ounces and the smallest a pound less, were born today to Mrs. Oliva Dionne in her farm home two miles from here.

Visitors found the 24-year-old mother and the babies in good condition and the father, seven years older than his wife, busy at his chores.

There are five other children in the family, the oldest, Ernest, being seven. One other child of the couple, who were married in September, 1925, died.

"Oh, pretty good," said Mrs. Dionne after her French nurse interpreted to her inquiries as to how she was feeling.

"Well, do you feel proud of yourself?" the father was asked.

"I'm the kind of fellow they should put in jail," he answered. weighed at the time a group of newspapermen and photographers, attracted by the report of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the obstertrician, reached the farm.

A potato scale was produced and each of the loudly howling infants was placed on it.

The little girl identified as the oldest of the five weighed three pounds and four ounces and the two youngest registered two pounds and four ounces each. The total weight of all five was 13 pounds and six ounces.

The father was torn between pleasure at the unexpectedly large addition to his family and the thought of the financial burden.

He said he is going to do the best he can, but stressed the fact he is not exactly built for hard work, being five feet and eight inches tall and weighing only 130 pounds. His wife is slightly

HALF BILLION DUE ON DEBTS THIS JUNE 15

THIRTEEN NATIONS ARE NOTIFIED TO PAY UP

Washington, May 28 (AP)—The United States has notified thirteen European debtor nations that they are in debt to the United States treasury to the tune of almost half a billion dollars and asked that they pay up on June 15.

Statements of accounts due were dispatched to ten embassies and legations today, completing the list of nations having payments due next month. The note called their attention to all their existing indebtedness, including the amounts unpaid by them previously. The British, French and Belgian ambassadors were given similar notes on Saturday.

Today's notes were dispatched on the eve of President Roosevelt's war debts message which probably will be sent to congress sometime tomorrow.

$300,000,000 in Arrears

The state department took cognizance of the Johnson act in asking the debtor nations for their total past due accounts as well as accounts due June 15.

In most instances debtor nations are behind in their payments from June, 1933, and the multiplying principal installments and interest is now around the half billion mark.

Five nations have, in the past, made token payments and they were requested to pay the amounts remaining unpaid at the time the partial payments were remitted.

The thirteen nations owe $174,647,439 in payments falling due June 15, of which $56,633,701 is principal amount, $103,088,891 is interest on total, and $14,924,845 is due to the moratorium.

Approximately $300,000,000 is due from past due accounts.

BRITAIN PUZZLED

London, May 28 (AP)—Government leaders today began considering the thorny question of what attitude to adopt when Great Britain's war debt payment to the United States comes due June 15.

Indications were their decision will be kept secret until shortly before the date set for the remittance.

Several private talks on the debt question followed the arrival, one by one, of the government officials concerned. All of them are expected back in London by tomorrow in preparation for the reassembling of parliament Wednesday.

Wednesday is also the day for cabinet meetings and a review of the debt situation is understood to be scheduled for the forthcoming reunion.

Tear Gas Bomb Hurled Through Window at Rockford, Ill.

Rockford, Ill., May 28 (AP)—One woman fainted and two men suffered injuries tonight when a tear gas bomb was tossed into a hall where Norman Thomas, former presidential candidate for the Socialist party, was speaking.

A near-panic was created as the fumes spread through the building. The 400 or more persons in the audience dashed for doors, choking and blinded.

One woman fainted as the crowd surged out. She was revived quickly and apparently suffered no ill effects from the gas. Ellis Leckard, Rockford representative for Amtorg Trading corporation, Soviet trading agency in this country, was bruised on the leg. Sitting near the window through which the bomb was tossed, he was struck by it. Edward Copeland, 46, Rockford, suffered a broken shoulder when caught in the crush of the crowd.

When order was restored Thomas continued his address outside, making little comment on the incident other than to say "This is the first time I've ever been gassed while I was speaking."

It was the second time Thomas' attempts to speak in Illinois had been interrupted on his present tour. A few night ago at Taylorville, in the heart of the state's coal mine controversy, sheriff's deputies detained him in the court house for an hour after leading him from the platform where he started to talk. The officers explained that no permit had been given him to speak.

Sawmills Report Employment Gain

Washington, May 28, (AP)—The National Lumber Manufacturers association said sawmill employment in April gained 5.3 per cent over the preceding month and was 53.8 per cent above the same month a year ago. It stated the average payroll for sawmills climbed 9 per cent over the preceding month and was 120.6 above April 1933. Milwork plants reported to the department of labor that April employment was 4.9 per cent above the preceding month and 34 per cent above April 1933. Payrolls climbed 6.1 per cent in April over March and 60.8 per cent above April 1933.

De Noble's pocketbook was found floating on the lake and an empty rowboat, with one oar missing was also discovered.

Sale of Arms Banned To Bolivia, Paraguay

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, May 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt outlawed the sale of munitions in this country to Bolivia and Paraguay tonight in an unprecedented move to end the disastrous war raging for more than a year in the South American interior.

The chief executive signed a proclamation to that effect under authority of a resolution whipped through congress at his request and warned that all violations "will be rigorously prosecuted."

The proclamation recited that he had been assured of the cooperation of other governments, without whose assistance his advisers believed tonight's action might fall far short of success.

State department authorities American history to compare with the banning of the sale of arms in this country to the belligerants. There have been cases in which the Washington government has banned arms shipments to South American nations in which revolution and civil war were rampant. But there are no historical comparisons for stopping the sale of munitions to two fighting countries.

American manufacturers sold $1,050,045 worth of war implement to Bolivia last year and $94,483 to Paraguay. For the first three months of this year the shipments totaled $509,506 to Bolivia, or at almost a double rate. For the three months sales to Paraguay totaled $175,718.

FRENCH ACES CROSS OCEAN IN 38 HOURS

SILVER MONOPLANE FAILS TO REACH CALIFORNIA

(By The Associated Press)

Courageous French birdmen added new glories to the aviation history of their country yesterday with the successful completion of two trans-Atlantic flights.

Covering 3,700 miles in 38 hours and 28 minutes, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi landed their huge silver monoplane, the Joseph Lebrix, at Floyd Bennett Field, New York. The fliers had spanned the North Atlantic but fell 2,400 miles short of their goal—San Diego, Cal.

Zeppelin Enroute

The heroes of the other flight, Jean Mermoz and M. Darby, crossed the South Atlantic from St. Louis, Senegal, to Natal, Brazil. They made their 1,900 mile trip in 15 hours and 5 minutes as a demonstration of the practicability of a regular South Atlantic air mail service.

Also soaring above the south Atlantic but at a more leisurely gait, was the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, also bearing mail from Europe to South America.

A flat tire ended Pilot William B. Lester's attempt to break the Dallas-Chicago commercial speed plane record when he landed in St. Louis two hours and 52 minutes after the takeoff. The time on his "Vultee," single-motored ship, could not be replaced.

BY R. H. HIPPELHEUSER

New York, May 28 (AP)—The French aces, Captain Maurice Rossi and Lieutenant Paul Codos, conquered the Atlantic by air again today with new honors and, paradoxically, shattered hopes.

Heavy vibration of the wings caused them to land their silver monoplane, the Joseph Lebrix, at Floyd Bennett field at 1:38 p. m. (EST)—clear across the continent from California, their nonstop goal when they left Lebourget field in Paris 38 hours and 28 minutes before.

Made Hop Twice

But they achieved the fame of being first to fly the Atlantic in both directions and were the second to make the westward crossing from Paris to New York.

Their own long distance flight record, set last year from New York to Syria in the same ship, still stands.

The first words of the weary fliers reflected their disappointment. Then after a brief rest at a hotel—and a quart of chilled champagne—they agreed the flight performance was not so bad, after all.

"I am very, very sorry," said

SPEEDWAY RACE HAS 35 ENTRIES

Fred Frame Eliminated; Two Oil Burners In Field

Indianapolis, May 28 (AP)—A starting field of thirty-three cars was assured today for the twenty-second annual 500 mile race to be run Wednesday over the Indianapolis Motor Speedway course.

The time trials were completed late this afternoon and the rail birds went home to roost until race day. The course will be closed tomorrow so that workmen can put the huge plant in shape for the speed spectacle that is expected to attract 100,000 thrill seekers.

Thirty-one gasoline cars and two propelled by oil burning engines comprise the field for the Memorial Day classic.

The list of competing drivers this year includes many names familiar to race fans. Among them is Louis Meyer of South Gate, Calif., winner of the event in 1928 and again in 1933.

In the pole position, a place he earned by making the fastest time on the first day of the qualifying runs, will be Kelly Petillo, diminutive Californian. Petillo's average for the twenty-five mile run was 119.329 miles per hour and was the fastest speed recorded during the qualification runs.

Fred Frame of Los Angeles, winner in 1931, was eliminated as a possible starter by a mishap during his attempt to qualify this morning. The left steering arm of his car broke while he was coming out of a curve into the stretch and his speedster, out of control, went crashing into a wall. Frame and his riding companion, Al Thieson of Dayton, O., escaped injury but the car was so damaged that its repair before the closing of the time trials was impossible.

Athletics Beaten By Indians, 6 to 5 In 10 Inning Tilt

Cleveland, May 28, (AP) The league-leading Indians beat Philadelphia in a ten inning game, 6 to 5, today when Averill's double scored Knickerbocker with the winning run. The victory gave Cleveland a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Foxx led the Athletics' attack with two home runs, his tenth and eleventh of the season. In the first inning he hit the ball over the right field fence, scoring Warstler. Foxx's high drive in the third inning hit the right field wall, took a freak bounce, and before it could be retrieved the Philadelphia first baseman had made the rounds, again scoring Warstler.

Lieutenant Codos, in French at the airport, "we had enough gasoline to go on. We had 3,000 liters left and we wanted very much to go on to San Diego and the Pacific ocean. But the wings were vibrating, so we thought it best to come down."

Captain Rossi, who piloted the ship to its landing, said as he climbed wearily from the controls:

"I am not at all happy.

"We are not content. We are disappointed not to be able to complete the flight for the prize." Referring to the offer of $66,000 by the French government for the nonstop distance flight they had contemplated.

Fought Headwinds

Rossi, whose elevation to a captaincy in the air corps was announced by the French government just about the time the Lebrix soared over the American mainland, finally observed:

"It is better to be here alive than a hero dead."

"There was nothing wrong with the motor," said the short, rotound captain and the taller, broad-shouldered lieutenant so they were escorted through a hurriedly-gathered and small crowd to the administration offices of the field for a few minutes respite.

"We fought terrific headwinds and the vibration was terrible."

Then in the quiet of their hotel suite they said that early in the day they determined to make New York their stopping place and be satisfied for the present.

Had Short Naps

"It was slow from Newfoundland to New York," Codos said. "The worst weather started last night just off Newfoundland and for five hours it was complete soup.

"But we knew every minute where we were. Our plane was a 'living laboratory' of scientific apparatus.

"In this thick weather the wings near the rudder began to vibrate and cause trouble. There was no complaint about the propeller, although it has four nicks in it.

"The vibration might have been caused by the heavy load with which we started, but we don't know yet. The load might have weakened the guy wires."

Rossi appeared for the interview in pale blue pajamas, open at the collar, and without shoes. Codos was slightly more formal, wearing a cream colored shirt and dark blue trousers. He, too, was without shoes. Both had enjoyed short naps.

Their faces were brisk red, burned by gasoline they had dumped on landing at the airport, and their eyes were slightly bloodshot. They did not appear exhausted, however, from their audacious flight, and talked and gestured excitedly as they discussed their adventures.

The fliers said their present plans are indefinite.

"We are under military service," said Rossi, "and are awaiting instructions from the French government. We probably will be here 15 or 20 days. Our mechanics, ordered to sail from France, will not arrive for at least eight days."

The French airmen said that they became tired and nervous during the long hours over the Atlantic, but never drousy.

"We were too anxious to get across," said Codos.

He explained that the vibration in the wings of their plane caused extreme difficulty in steering, and that it became extremely tiring.

"For the most of the time," he said, "the trip was not too much for two men," meaning, he said with a laugh, that both were kept busy every moment.

The roar of the motor and the fumes from the gasoline gave Rossi a "splitting headache," and he retired before his comrade, who remained gesticulating to newspapermen.

Rossi planned to sleep several more hours, then visit with friends. Codos retired for the night, not to be disturbed.

The fliers expressed their happiness that, though unable to reach their goal, their landing was in New York the city reached by their fellow-countrymen Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, four years ago.

The fliers themselves roughly calculated the distance they flew at between 3,877 and 4,060 miles, far below their international distance record set last August after they took off from Floyd Bennett airport in the same plane, flying eastward. Their maximum speed, they said, was 134.3 miles per hour.

The reception given Rossi and Codos, due to the suddenness of their decision to stop here, hardly was in keeping with that usually accorded to transoceanic victors.

The French consulate was not advised in time to have an attache at the field. Mayor Fiorello La Guardia was caught in the midst of a busy day. But he hurriedly dispatched a member of his cabinet.

Advised through the naval authorities in a message sent from the Lebrix to the commander of the United States fleet via the navy wireless station at Boston that the intrepid long-distance aviators would land, the officials at Floyd Bennett hastily made landing arrangements.

Champagne, Then Sleep

At 1:32 p. m. E. S. T. the silver nose of the Lebrix was seen shining in the sky to the northeast. It circled the field, emptying have quantities of gasoline to lighten the load for a safe landing.

This alarmed the airport officials. They feared a fire.

The monoplane settled down, in a perfect landing at 1:38 p. m. Frantically, the officials signalled them to shut off their motor to avoid the ignition of gasoline that soaked the landing gear. This was done. The danger was past.

Captain Rossi wore the uniform of a lieutenant, without medals and sword. Codos was in his shirtsleeves. They were disheveled and grimy but their faces were wreathed in smiles.

They asked for cigarettes and eager hands supplied them.

Though the crowd was small, about 1,000 persons, in comparison to other landings, it set up quite a bedlam.

In the hurried arrangements to get the fliers to a Park avenue hotel, compatriots were unable to get in a word of greeting. They were some officers from the French cruiser Jeanne D'Arc, at anchor in New York harbor on a goodwill cruise about the world.

But, fatigued and hungry, the fliers went direct to the hotel, ordered a bottle of champagne, drank it, and napped

O'Connor Reports On Condition Of Michigan's Banks

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., May 28.—The status of national banks in Michigan was reported today in a statement issued by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, showing the status by states of national banks throughout the country.

Michigan had 83 licensed national banks on May 1, 1934, with aggregate deposits of $402,916,000, O'Connor's report shows. There were seven unlicensed national banks in the state—and all of them had approved reorganization plans with aggregate frozen deposits of $10,963,000. Fifty-three Michigan national banks, he said, were in receivership on the first of May, and deposits released by these insolvent institutions totaled $293,771,000, compared with unreleased deposits of $289,597,000.

In the entire United States, the comptroller reported, there were 5375 licensed national banks with aggregate deposits of $18,918,931,000. There were 185 unlicensed banks with frozen deposits of $161,240,000, of which 145 with $145,259,000 in frozen deposits had received approved reorganization plans. There were 1529 national banks in receivership, with released deposits of $829,921,000 and unreleased deposits of $987,338,000.

Spartans Claim Tennis Laurels

East Lansing, Mich., May 28 (AP) Michigan State's great tennis team today laid claim to the mythical collegiate championship of the mid-west by trouncing the University of Chicago, Western Conference champions, 5 to 1.

The Spartans, who previously had turned back Michigan, Ohio State, and Western State Teachers as thier chief rivals in this section of the country, made a clean sweep of the four singles matches and halved the two doubles.

Captain Stanley Weltz, of Michigan State, continued his undefeated ways by winning a three set match from Max Davidson, of Chicago, the Western Conference singles champion. Davidson rallied to take the second set, but Weltz returned strong to win the final 6-1.

Rex Morris, State's No. 2 man, was also pressed to win over Trevor Weiss, Chicago star, by scores of 5-7, 6-4, 7-5.

Helen Jacobs Lone Survivor for U. S. In French Matches

Paris, May 28 (AP) America's champion and lone survivor, Helen Jabobs, of Berkeley, Calif., today easily gained the quarter-final round of the French hard court tennis championship in a day featured by the unexpected downfall of Fred Perry and G. P. Hughes of England, doubles title-holders.

Miss Jacobs, who alone remains from a starting band of five American Wightman players, won much as she pleased from Mary Harwick, an 18-year-old unranked English player 6-0, 6-1. Her opponent in the quarter-finals tomorrow will be Lolette Payott of Switzerland, who defeated Miss Jacobs in this event two years ago.

The sturdy, first-ranking American also progressed to the quarter-finals of the women's doubles. She and her partner, Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., advanced when their opponents Gilli Assem and Marle Horn of Germany defeated.

OARSMEN IN TRIM

Seattle (AP) To sustain interest in crew at the University of Washington and to keep the varsity and freshman oarsmen in condition for competition in the national regatta at Poughkeepsie, Coach Al Ulbrickson introduced a series of "bumping" races.

Eight mixed crews were entered in the event which was copied after English races. The boats were staggered at the starting point and the object was to catch the shell ahead to gain a better position for the start of the next race. The event was held each day for five days over a mile and a quarter course, and the boat winning the last day was awarded the championship.

MAY ENLARGE MAIL SERVICE

Substitute Carriers Are Expected to Get Regular Jobs

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., May 28. Substitute mail carriers in Escanaba and other cities of the country were given hope for regular positions today when twenty-five postoffice inspectors were called from different parts of the country for the purpose of making an immediate survey to determine what additional service should be given the larger municipalities.

"For the last several months there has been a noticeable increase in the postal revenue, which indicates an enlarged business," James A. Farley, Postmaster General, explained. "In order to keep pace with this increased business and to insure adequate postal facilities to the people of the nation, another survey is being made at this time.

"It is altogether probable that the information secured from this inquiry will justify the department in providing for the promotion of several hundred substitute employes to regular positions, and, in turn, provide more work for substitutes generally."

Last January 600 substitute postoffice employes from all sections of the country participated in a hungar march here. They left petitions at the White House, the Postoffice Department and with NRA authorities for better working conditions for the 25,000 substitutes in the service.

FIGHT ON WATERFRONT

San Francisco, May 28. (AP) Fierce fioting broke out on the waterfront here and at San Diego late today, sending eight men to hospitals and resulting in less severe injuries to scores of participants, as shippers and striking longshoremen were reported to have reached a deadlock in negotiations to settle the longshoremen's strike.

Tear gas bombs were hurled by police and shotguns were fired into the air as officers sought to halt the fury of a crowd estimated at between 1,000 and 2,000 men, who surged along the embarcadero here. Reports said machine guns had been set up along the waterfront here but Chief of Police William J. Quinn refused to say what weapons had been placed at the disposal of more than 500 policemen sent to the embattled district.

The disturbance followed receipt of unconfirmed word that the International Longshoremen's association had rejected a compromise proposal of shipping men before federal mediators in another of the many moves toward settlement of the 19-day-old coastwide walkout, now involving more than 25,000 men.

A group of men gathered at a vacant lot near the strikers' headquarters and a speaker harangued them, urging them "to show the shippers that we mean business."

Mounted patrolmen hurried to the scene and endeavored to scatter the men. One man hurled a rock and the battle was on.

CHANGE STEEL CODE

Washington, May 28. (AP)—Moves to avert the threat of a steel strike and to effect speedy revision of the industry's important code were disclosed today simultaneously.

Senator Wagner, chairman of the nation labor board, telegraphed Mike F. Tighe, president of the Steel Workers' American Federation of Labor union to come here from Pittsburgh for a conference.

Donald Richberg, NRA general counsel, announced the entire steel industry had been called together for a meeting in New York tomorrow to vote upon substantial changes in the code, asked by NRA. Action must be had immediately as the code expires May 31.

Tighe had not answered Wagner this afternoon but expectations were he would come here and would see also Hugh S. Johnson at NRA. The union leader has sent representations to both men that the steel companies have flouted the collective bargaining provisions of their code. Labor board headquarters said Wagner's telegram was in response to Tighe's initial communication.

Burleigh Grimes Signed by Yanks

St. Louis, May 28 (AP)—The New York Yankees, in an attempt to bolster their pitching staff, today signed Burleigh Grimes, 41-year old spitball pitcher recently released by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The wearing of an American league uniform will be a new experience for the veteran hurler as his active major league career has been with six National league clubs since joining the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1916. He was the property of the Detroit Tigers in 1913 but was shipped to the minors before he had appeared in a game.

Rice growers in the United States suffered a loss of $30,000,000 in their gross income in 1932, as compared with the 1924-28 period.

SPEEDWAY RACE HAS 35 ENTRIES

Fred Frame Eliminated; Two Oil Burners In Field

Indianapolis, May 28 (AP)—A starting field of thirty-three cars was assured today for the twenty-second annual 500 mile race to be run Wednesday over the Indianapolis Motor Speedway course.

The time trials were completed late this afternoon and the rail birds went home to roost until race day. The course will be closed tomorrow so that workmen can put the huge plant in shape for the speed spectacle that is expected to attract 100,000 thrill seekers.

Thirty-one gasoline cars and two propelled by oil burning engines comprise the field for the Memorial Day classic.

The list of competing drivers this year includes many names familiar to race fans. Among them is Louis Meyer of South Gate, Calif., winner of the event in 1928 and again in 1933.

In the pole position, a place he earned by making the fastest time on the first day of the qualifying runs, will be Kelly Petillo, diminutive Californian. Petillo's average for the twenty-five mile run was 119.329 miles per hour and was the fastest speed recorded during the qualification runs.

Fred Frame of Los Angeles, winner in 1931, was eliminated as a possible starter by a mishap during his attempt to qualify this morning. The left steering arm of his car broke while he was coming out of a curve into the stretch and his speedster, out of control, went crashing into a wall. Frame and his riding companion, Al Thieson of Dayton, O., escaped injury but the car was so damaged that its repair before the closing of the time trials was impossible.

Athletics Beaten By Indians, 6 to 5 In 10 Inning Tilt

Cleveland, May 28. (AP)—The league-leading Indians beat Philadelphia in a ten inning game, 6 to 5, today when Averill's double scored Knickerbocker with the winning run. The victory gave Cleveland a clean sweep of the three-game series.

Foxx led the Athletics' attack with two home runs, his tenth and eleventh of the season. In the first inning he hit the ball over the right field fence, scoring Warstler. Foxx's high drive in the third inning hit the right field wall, took a freak bounce, and before it could be retrieved the Philadelphia first baseman had made the rounds, again scoring Warstler.

Lieutenant Codos, in French at the airport, "we had enough gasoline to go on. We had 3,000 liters left and we wanted very much to go on to San Diego and the Pacific ocean. But the wings were vibrating, so we thought it best to come down."

Captain Rossi, who piloted the ship to its landing, said as he climbed wearily from the controls:

"I am not at all happy.

"We are not content. We are disappointed not to be able to complete the flight for the prize."—Referring to the offer of $66,000 by the French government for the nonstop distance flight they had contemplated.

Fought Headwinds

Rossi, whose elevation to a captaincy in the air corps was announced by the French government just about the time the Lebrix soared over the American mainland, finally observed:

"It is better to be here alive than a hero dead."

"There was nothing wrong with the motor," said the short, rotound captain and the taller, broad-shouldered lieutenant so they were escorted through a hurriedly-gathered and small crowd to the administration offices of the field for a few minutes respite.

"We fought terrific headwinds and the vibration was terrible."

Then in the quiet of their hotel suite they said that early in the day they determined to make New York their stopping place and be satisfied for the present.

Had Short Naps

"It was slow from Newfoundland to New York," Codos said. "The worst weather started last night just off Newfoundland and for five hours it was complete soup.

"But we knew every minute where we were. Our plane was a 'living laboratory' of scientific apparatus.

"In this thick weather the wings near the rudder began to vibrate and cause trouble. There was no complaint about the propeller, although it has four nicks in it.

"The vibration might have been caused by the heavy load with which we started, but we don't know yet. The load might have weakened the guy wires."

Rossi appeared for the interview in pale blue pajamas, open at the collar, and without shoes. Codos was slightly more formal, wearing a cream colored shirt and dark blue trousers. He, too, was without shoes. Both had enjoyed short naps.

Their faces were brisk red, burned by gasoline they had dumped on landing at the airport, and their eyes were slightly bloodshot. They did not appear exhausted, however, from their audacious flight, and talked and gestured excitedly as they discussed their adventures.

The fliers said their present plans are indefinite.

"We are under military service," said Rossi, "and are awaiting instructions from the French government. We probably will be here 15 or 20 days. Our mechanics, ordered to sail from France, will not arrive for at least eight days."

The French airmen said that they became tired and nervous during the long hours over the Atlantic, but never drousy.

"We were too anxious to get across," said Codos.

He explained that the vibration in the wings of their plane caused extreme difficulty in steering, and that it became extremely tiring.

"For the most of the time," he said, "the trip was not too much for two men," meaning, he said with a laugh, that both were kept busy every moment.

The roar of the motor and the fumes from the gasoline gave Rossi a "splitting headache," and he retired before his comrade, who remained gesticulating to newspapermen.

Rossi planned to sleep several more hours, then visit with friends. Codos retired for the night, not to be disturbed.

The fliers expressed their happiness that, though unable to reach their goal, their landing was in New York—the city reached by their fellow-countrymen Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, four years ago.

The fliers themselves roughly calculated the distance they flew at between 3,877 and 4,060 miles, far below their international distance record set last August after they took off from Floyd Bennett airport in the same plane, flying eastward. Their maximum speed, they said, was 134.3 miles per hour.

The reception given Rossi and Codos, due to the suddenness of their decision to stop here, hardly was in keeping with that usually accorded to transoceanic victors.

The French consulate was not advised in time to have an attache at the field. Mayor Fiorello La Guardia was caught in the midst of a busy day. But he hurriedly dispatched a member of his cabinet.

Advised through the naval authorities—in a message sent from the Lebrix to the commander of the United States fleet via the navy wireless station at Boston—that the intrepid long-distance aviators would land, the officials at Floyd Bennett hastily made landing arrangements.

Champagne, Then Sleep

At 1:32 p. m. E. S. T. the silver nose of the Lebrix was seen shining in the sky to the northeast. It circled the field, emptying have quantities of gasoline to lighten the load for a safe landing.

This alarmed the airport officials. They feared a fire.

The monoplane settled down, in a perfect landing at 1:38 p. m. Frantically, the officials signalled them to shut off their motor to avoid the ignition of gasoline that soaked the landing gear. This was done. The danger was past.

Captain Rossi wore the uniform of a lieutenant, without medals and sword. Codos was in his shirtsleeves. They were disheveled and grimy but their faces were wreathed in smiles.

They asked for cigarettes and eager hands supplied them.

Though the crowd was small, about 1,000 persons, in comparison to other landings, it set up quite a bedlam.

In the hurried arrangements to get the fliers to a Park avenue hotel, compatriots were unable to get in a word of greeting. They were some officers from the French cruiser Jeanne D'Arc, at anchor in New York harbor on a goodwill cruise about the world.

But, fatigued and hungry, the fliers went direct to the hotel, ordered a bottle of champagne, drank it, and napped.

The first counterfeit "greenback" in the United States was one imitating the ten-dollar bill of 1862. It was circulated the same year.

O'Connor Reports On Condition Of Michigan's Banks

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., May 28.—The status of national banks in Michigan was reported today in a statement issued by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, showing the status by states of national banks throughout the country.

Michigan had 83 licensed national banks on May 1, 1934, with aggregate deposits of $402,916,000, O'Connor's report shows. There were seven unlicensed national banks in the state—and all of them had approved reorganization plans with aggregate frozen deposits of $10,963,000. Fifty-three Michigan national banks, he said, were in receivership on the first of May, and deposits released by these insolvent institutions totaled $293,771,000, compared with unreleased deposits of $289,597,000.

In the entire United States, the comptroller reported, there were 5375 licensed national banks with aggregate deposits of $18,918,931,000. There were 185 unlicensed banks with frozen deposits of $161,240,000, of which 145 with $145,259,000 in frozen deposits had received approved reorganization plans. There were 1529 national banks in receivership, with released deposits of $829,921,000 and unreleased deposits of $987,338,000.

Spartans Claim Tennis Laurels

East Lansing, Mich., May 28 (AP)—Michigan State's great tennis team today laid claim to the mythical collegiate championship of the mid-west by trouncing the University of Chicago, Western Conference champions, 5 to 1.

The Spartans, who previously had turned back Michigan, Ohio State, and Western State Teachers as thier chief rivals in this section of the country, made a clean sweep of the four singles matches and halved the two doubles.

Captain Stanley Weitz, of Michigan State, continued his undefeated ways by winning a three set match from Max Davidson, of Chicago, the Western Conference singles champion. Davidson rallied to take the second set, but Weitz returned strong to win the final 6-1.

Rex Morris, State's No. 2 man, was also pressed to win over Trevor Weiss, Chicago star, by scores of 5-7, 6-4, 7-5.

Helen Jacobs Lone Survivor for U. S. In French Matches

Paris, May 28 (AP)—America's champion and lone survivor, Helen Jabobs, of Berkeley, Calif., today easily gained the quarter-final round of the French hard court tennis championship in a day featured by the unexpected downfall of Fred Perry and G. P. Hughes of England, doubles titleholders.

Miss Jacobs, who alone remains from a starting band of five American Wightman players, won much as she pleased from Mary Harwick, an 18-year-old unranked English player 6-0, 6-1. Her opponent in the quarter-finals tomorrow will be Lolette Payott of Switzerland, who defeated Miss Jacobs in this event two years ago.

The sturdy, first-ranking American also progressed to the quarter-finals of the women's doubles. She and her partner, Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., advanced when their opponents Gilli Assem and Marie Horn of Germany defeated.

OARSMEN IN TRIM

Seattle (AP)—To sustain interest in crew at the University of Washington and to keep the varsity and freshman oarsmen in condition for competition in the national regatta at Poughkeepsie, Coach Al Ulbrickson introduced a series of "bumping" races.

Eight mixed crews were entered in the event which was copied after English races. The boats were staggered at the starting point and the object was to catch the shell ahead to gain a better position for the start of the next race. The event was held each day for five days over a mile and a quarter course, and the boat winning the last day was awarded the championship.

MAY ENLARGE MAIL SERVICE

Substitute Carriers Are Expected to Get Regular Jobs

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., May 28.—Substitute mail carriers in Escanaba and other cities of the country were given hope for regular positions today when twenty-five postoffice inspectors were called from different parts of the country for the purpose of making an immediate survey to determine what additional service should be given the larger municipalities.

"For the last several months there has been a noticeable increase in the postal revenue, which indicates an enlarged business," James A. Farley, Postmaster General, explained. "In order to keep pace with this increased business and to insure adequate postal facilities to the people of the nation, another survey is being made at this time.

"It is altogether probable that the information secured from this inquiry will justify the department in providing for the promotion of several hundred substitute employes to regular positions, and, in turn, provide more work for substitutes generally."

Last January 600 substitute postoffice employes from all sections of the country participated in a hungar march here. They left petitions at the White House, the Postoffice Department and with NRA authorities for better working conditions for the 25,000 substitutes in the service.

The three companies, said Taft, declined to either suspend operations entirely or to return striking employes temporarily to their jobs pending arbitration of differences. The latter plan was proposed by the federal government's representatives who intrvened in the strike in the hope of achieving a settlement.

The companies are the Electric Auto-Lite company, center of recent rioting which claimed two lives, the Bingham Stamping and Tool company, and the Logan Gear company.

FIGHT ON WATERFRONT

San Francisco, May 28. (AP)—Fierce rioting broke out on the waterfront here and at San Diego late today, sending eight men to hospitals and resulting in less severe injuries to scores of participants, as shippers and striking longshoremen were reported to have reached a deadlock in negotiations to settle the longshoremen's strike.

Tear gas bombs were hurled by police and shotguns were fired into the air as officers sought to halt the fury of a crowd estimated at between 1,000 and 2,000 men, who surged along the embarcadero here. Reports said machine guns had been set up along the waterfront here but Chief of Police William J. Quinn refused to say what weapons had been placed at the disposal of more than 500 policemen sent to the embattled district.

The disturbance followed receipt of unconfirmed word that the International Longshoremen's association had rejected a compromise proposal of shipping men before federal mediators in another of the many moves toward settlement of the 19-day-old coastwide walkout, now involving more than 25,000 men.

A group of men gathered at a vacant lot near the strikers' headquarters and a speaker harangued them, urging them "to show the shippers that we mean business."

Mounted patrolmen hurried to the scene and endeavored to scatter the men. One man hurled a rock and the battle was on.

CHANGE STEEL CODE

Washington, May 28. (AP)—Moves to avert the threat of a steel strike and to effect speedy revision of the industry's important code were disclosed today simultaneously.

Senator Wagner, chairman of the nation labor board, telegraphed Mike F. Tighe, president of the Steel Workers' American Federation of Labor union to come here from Pittsburgh for a conference.

Donald Richberg, NRA general counsel, announced the entire steel industry had been called together for a meeting in New York tomorrow to vote upon substantial changes in the code, asked by NRA. Action must be had immediately as the code expires May 31.

Tighe had not answered Wagner this afternoon but expectations were he would come here and would see also Hugh S. Johnson at NRA. The union leader has sent representations to both men that the steel companies have flouted the collective bargaining provisions of their code. Labor board headquarters said Wagner's telegram was in response to Tighe's initial communication.

SCHOOL CENSUS IS BEING TAKEN

Decrease in Escanaba District Appears Probable

While the enrollment has been increasing, the census of children of school age in the Escanaba district is likely to decline slightly, according to tentative data now being gathered by Miss Carrie Wallace and her two assistants, who are now making the county.

The census reduction is attributed to the fact that families have been moving out of the city limits to farms and gardening plots out in the townships, bordering the city of Escanaba. It is expected, however, that a large proportion of these families will continue to send their children to the schools here.

1932 Census Figures

The 1932 census, the last one checked, shows a record of 1,383,000 children between the ages of five and 19. In a recent radio address entitled, "Counting Michigan's Children," Dr. Eugene Elliott, director of research for the department of public instruction, stated:

"This number of children would make enough for 153,000 baseball teams with 667 children left over for substitutes. Or there would be enough children to make up 125,000 football teams with 727 substitutes. If the basketball season were on there would be enough children to play 138,000 games at one time. If the 1,383,000 children were formed in a column, four abreast each rank three feet apart, the line would fall only a little short of 200 miles long."

Primary School Fund

Dr. Elliott points out that the annual count of Michigan children should be of interest to persons selling to the Michigan public in that it is possible to forecast the total population from this census more easily than from the ten-year periods of the federal census. Prior to the present economic depression, from 30,000 to 40,000 children were annually added to the census roll in excess of those taken from the list. Since 1929, only approximately 10,000 children have been added each year.

The taking of the census provides a basis for the annual distribution of the primary school fund which was $24,000,000 in 1930-31 and 1931-32, the largest distribution ever made in the state. It is estimated that only $14,000,000 will be available in this fund next year.

County Farm Hens Lay Premium Eggs

A Chicago commission man has made arrangements with W. J. McGraw, county poor commissioner, to buy all the surplus eggs produced at the county farm and will pay a three cents per dozen premium on them. The extra price is being paid because of the high quality of the eggs, as a result of special feeding methods which have been introduced at the county farm's poultry department.

Decrease in Escanaba District Appears Probable

While the enrollment has been increasing, the census of children of school age in the Escanaba district is likely to decline slightly, according to tentative data now being gathered by Miss Carrie Wallace and her two assistants, who are now making the county.

The census reduction is attributed to the fact that families have been moving out of the city limits to farms and gardening plots out in the townships, bordering the city of Escanaba. It is expected, however, that a large proportion of these families will continue to send their children to the schools here.

The 1932 census, the last one checked, shows a record of 1,383,000 children between the ages of five and 19. In a recent radio address entitled, "Counting Michigan's Children," Dr. Eugene Elliott, director of research for the department of public instruction, stated:

"This number of children would make enough for 153,000 baseball teams with 667 children left over for substitutes. Or there would be enough children to make up 125,000 football teams with 727 substitutes. If the basketball season were on there would be enough children to play 138,000 games at one time. If the 1,383,000 children were formed in a column, four abreast each rank three feet apart, the line would fall only a little short of 200 miles long."

Primary School Fund

Dr. Elliott points out that the annual count of Michigan children should be of interest to persons selling to the Michigan public in that it is possible to forecast the total population from this census more easily than from the ten-year periods of the federal census. Prior to the present economic depression, from 30,000 to 40,000 children were annually added to the census roll in excess of those taken from the list. Since 1929, only approximately 10,000 children have been added each year.

The taking of the census provides a basis for the annual distribution of the primary school fund which was $24,000,000 in 1930-31 and 1931-32, the largest distribution ever made in the state. It is estimated that only $14,000,000 will be available in this fund next year.

Alex Nadeau Jr. Taken by Death

A telegram was received here Sunday conveying the sad news of the death of Alex Nadeau, Jr., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Nadeau, West Munising avenue.

Alex Nadeau, Jr., was born in Ishpeming, Mich., in 1891, where he lived with his parents until 1908 when the family moved to Munising. While in Munising he was employed at the plant of the Munising Paper company. About 18 years ago he moved to Moss Point, Miss., where he remained until two years ago when he accepted a responsible position with the Kraft Paper Co., of Mobile, Ala., at which city he succumbed to a heart attack Saturday night.

"Pete," as he was commonly known in Munising, possessed a quiet dignity that commanded respect with all whom he came in contact, and during his residence here he had many friends who were deeply grieved to hear of his passing.

Besides his wife and five children, he is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Nadeau of this city; three sisters, Florida and Julia Nadeau, of Munising, and Mrs. Joseph B. LaLiberty, of Royal Oak; and one brother, Joseph, of Dalhousie, N. B., Canada.

—EDITORIAL—

STACK'S COURSE ENDORSED

DEMONSTRATING the measure of public approval John K. Stack has won for the course he has pursued in conducting affairs of the office of auditor general of Michigan for the past year and a half and the demand that has developed for his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of governor of the state, is an editorial that appeared recently in the Pontiac Daily Press. The determination of the Escanaba official to conduct the affairs of a state office along lines similar to those that would be followed in private business, has won for him a wide degree of unpopularity with the politicians and fellow office holders at Lansing, but his course has won widespread public commendation.

Discussing Mr. Stack's record in the office he now holds and his prospective candidacy for the governorship, the Press, of Pontiac, says:

If Auditor General John K. Stack joins the merry party of gubernatorial candidates, which action seems likely, it will add strength to a group of entrants that will insure a "hoss race" this Summer and Fall.

From the day that he arrived in Lansing, Mr. Stack gave evidence of possessing plenty of "rugged individualism." We are thinking of this term when it connoted strength and capacity. That was before it was cynically tossed into the discard by Professor Tugwell.

Party fealty seems to have sat rather lightly on the Upper Peninsula man, who believes in running the affairs of the State after the fashion of operating a successful business. Always that has been lese majeste to your old time blown-in-the -bottle politician, who is inclined to think first of party welfare and secondly of sound finance and drastic economy in public affairs.

It was not John Stack's conception of his job to go into the Auditor General's office and apply a large rubber stamp reading "OKJHS" on all the bills that went across the counter. Refusal to "go along" was a poor way to make friends with the gentry whose business it is to soak the State on supplies and services of one sort and another. Stack began reading the bills item by item and sending back invoices for further information and then he ordered a pretty little rubber stamp which indicated that the bill had been rejected by his office. And from that hour he was poison to certain factions and certain politicians whose ideas of how to make a success in public life belonged to another school of political philosophy.

If he goes into the race he will be handicapped by certain politicians in his own party who regard his attitude as irritatingly narrow and who look upon his searching inquisitions as unwarranted, inhibitory and embarrassing. A chance to fatten a bill against the Commonwealth of Michigan is something to treat with respect and deference by some of the "practical" manipulators. But Stack has gone on about his way, doing his duty as he saw it. That duty was to save for the hardpressed taxpayers every penny that honestly could be rescued from questionable accounts that passed through his office.

Stack has made no effort to make himself solid with any faction, click or coterie in his party or outside of it. He soon discovered that if he were to do his duty, that his assignment was an unpopular one, but that did not deter him from proceeding without apology. His courage has on many occasions precipitated angry criticism and ugly resentment.

Perhaps the Auditor General's outstanding contribution to Michigan taxpayers occurred when he declared he would go to jail rather than permit the State Tax Sale which would have caused thousands of additional Michigan citi-

Stack's thorough business training has been of the type and character which stands as a primary necessity, in evaluating possible candidates for Governor. Michigan needs a trained Executive as never before. The mounting financial problems and the general complexity of the economic situation are sufficient to tax the capabilities of the best grounded and most ingenious students of practical affairs.

If Mr. Stack elects to run when he makes his definite decision in June, he will find himself opposed by politicians in both parties who have encountered his refusal to say "yes, yes" every time political expediency inclined the straws in a given direction. No outstanding man has yet served his State or Nation without arousing open hostilities. As Former Governor Chase S. Osborn recently remarked: "Any positive character setting out to accomplish definite objectives will soon arouse definite antagonisms."

Governor Comstock is already a candidate and with Judge Lacy of Detroit mentioned by his friends as a possibility, the Democratic pot promises to boil merrily during the coming campaign.

FEAR LABOR TROUBLES

FEAR OF labor dissensions, such as have marred the progress of industry toward stabilization in recent weeks, is given as the cause for a two point decline in steel production within the past week. During the last week steel production receded from 59 per cent of capacity to 57 per cent and until national labor unrest is quieted authorities of the steel industry do not expect any substantial increase in operations.

The single note of interest and local encouragement carried in the week's review of the steel industry by the magazine, Steel, is an announcement that the Ford Motor Company is to receive bids shortly for 5000 tons of structural steel shapes for a strip mill that is to be constructed at Dearborn, Michigan, in carrying out that company's program of expansion. As long as the Ford Motor continues to expand, hope exists that eventually the company will get around to definite use of its factory site property at Gladstone and large acreage of reclaimed agricultural lands, adjacent to that city.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS

THE innumerable labor troubles of the day make dismal reading. Now and then, however, it is instructive to compare them with the labor troubles of a century ago. The following story, printed in the London Times of May 2, 1834, makes interesting reading:

"So great is the prevalence of the spirit promulgated lately by the unions as to wages that all classes appear to be actuated by a spirit of opposition to their employers. Even the washerwomen have not escaped the system.

"No fewer than 70 of this useful class of females struck at Kensington for higher wages. It appears that 2 shillings, 6 pence per diem and two half pints of beer has been the regular scale of wages, but a revolt was agreed upon and the price to be demanded fixed at 3 shillings per diem and the usual beer allowance.

"After a considerable time had been occupied in parleying the washerwomen carried their point, and after taking copious libations of gin returned the following day to their tubs as usual."

That little story presents a striking picture of the labor movement a century ago. The improvement since then is too obvious to need comment.

POINT OF VIEW

THE Italian newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia, which is owned by Mussolini himself, foresees the decline and fall of the United States. Why? Because the birth rate is falling.

This, says the paper, shows a "paralysis of energy" and will result before long in national decadence.

Before getting too gloomy about this, it is well to remember that Mussolini is constantly telling the Italians about the beauties of a high birth rate; and when one recalls that Italy is already overpopulated, and that further population pressure can only add to the disastrous tensions of European politics, one suspects that America's falling birth rate will prove less dangerous than Italy's rising one.

Donna of the Big Top

(By NEA Service) BY BEULAH POYNTER

CHAPTER XXVIII

In his first anger over Con's callousness and the shock of Madeline's death Renfroe had meant what he said when he dismissed the animal trainer. Soon, however, showmanship dominated sentiment and after three performances without Con's animal act Renfroe had reason to repent his hasty action. He therefore sent word for Con to return.

A message from the hotel where the animal trainer had stayed brought the information that he had checked out immediately after his wife's funeral and that he had left no forwarding address.

Renfroe made a round of the hotels but could find no trace of the performer. When the circus left New Orleans, therefore, it departed minus several lions, tigers and their trainer.

A period of rainy weather set in. Everyone in the troupe was downcast and ridden with the superstition that bad luck was hounding the show. Since expenses were eating up all profit and there were only a few more dates to be played before closing for the winter, Renfroe posted a notice that these engagements had been cancelled. Hence the circus did not reach Montgomery and Con failed to receive the letter Donna sent there.

The midgets took a train directly to New York where they joined a large vaudeville act made up of tiny folks like themselves, playing the circuit of the eastern cities. Later they would embark for Germany, to that section of Bavaria where so many of their kind first saw the light of day.

Two of the clowns who worked in the clothing business during the winter months went farther west. The men and women booked for the rodeo hurried on to their other show, but the majority of the troupe traveled to Chicago.

Though Con had managed to elude Renfroe, he was still in New Orleans. He had become a victim of remorse, finding (now that she was dead) that he had really cared for the girl who had given him her whole-hearted devotion. His ambition to become a star in "big time" had been destroyed with the death of the Bengal tigress, and he was in a numbed, sodden condition, refusing to take stock either of the present or the future.

He had checked out of the hotel where he and Madeline had stayed because the walls seemed to echo his dead wife's voice and he could see her in the shadows and in every hallway. Always she looked as she had that last night —white-faced and terrified, about to enter the cage with the tigress. Over and over again Con could hear Renfroe's accusation, "You killed her!"

* * *

He knew that it was true. It had been nothing more than a desire to punish Madeline for her past folly that had impelled him to force her to go through the act alone with Lucy. Madeline had not been ready to do that. She would never have been ready, for only his presence in the cage beside her had given her courage and confidence. Con knew all that now.

Moving away from the hotel, he soon found, could not erase the memories that haunted him. He thought of Madeline as she had been on the motor trip to New Orleans, laughing and gay. She had said, "If we could only go on like this forever!" and he had answered curtly. There had been other times like that, and remorse for it overwhelmed him now that it was too late. Madeline had been loyal. He knew how terrified she had been during those first days of entering the lions' cage. Yet she had gone through with it. She had done it because Con asked her to. Yes, Madeline had loved him.

Temperamental, with but little sentiment in his nature, Con was still not quite so hard-hearted or callous of feelings as he had appeared. Consequently he suffered. Because he had never been a dissipated man, a small amount of liquor intoxicated him. He found that by drinking he could forget and from the time he settled into a boarding house that had once been a stately mansion until he left the city he did not draw a completely sober breath.

The little Creole woman who owned the boarding house and called her establishment "a home for paying guests" pitied him from the depths of her sentimental heart. She made overtures of friendliness which Con ignored and she murmured often, "Such a pity! He's going to the dogs and who can blame him? So young to lose his wife that way! They were little more than bride and groom."

There were days on end when Con did not appear in the shabby, genteel dining room, when he ate what food he wanted from "hot dog" wagons or munched tamales that he bought on the streets.

There were nights when, bleary-eyed and uncertain in his walk, he wandered along the river bank until, overcome by exhaustion, he would fling himself upon the levee and sleep there until daylight awakened him.

* * *

Once so immaculate in his appearance, so clean shaven and handsome, Con looked now like a beach comber and Mrs. Lalauer, for all her sympathy, began to think that she would have to ask him to leave her boarding house.

Then one day a glimpse of his unshaven cheeks, his pasty-hued skin and hollow eyes jerked Con back to sanity. He paid his bills, packed his trunks and took the first train for Chicago.

On the long trip he took stock of his possessions. He had a little money, but funeral expenses and days of dissipation had eaten a large hole in his wallet. Obviously he could not remain in Chicago all winter with nothing to do. An engagement in "big time" vaudeville was out of the question now. It was not that there were many performers with a better act than his—even minus Madeline and the tigress—but the time when bookings should have been made was now past. Con had spent it idling about New Orleans.

He landed in Chicago during a snow storm and promptly was taken down with a severe attack of grippe. It left him with a cough and a feeling of complete fatigue that made him postpone daily any attempt to go to work.

Ordinarily he had found vaudeville bookings easy to secure, but for some reason there seemed to be very few theater managers who were willing to pay the price Con was obliged to demand for his act. This, Con assured himself, must be due to the fact that Renfroe had spread the news that he was temperamental and difficult to handle and that he had walked out on the circus.

Business was not good, the

EXCUSES

I don't depend on only wishin':
I think up reasons to go fishin'.
Good reasons, too, the wind, the weather,
There's plenty of 'em, altogether.
But that don't mean I always get to,
It only means another set-to.
Whatever reason man produces,
A woman thinks up more excuses.

She thinks I ought to keep from goin'
Until I've plowed and done the sowin'.
She says that fish ain't what we're needin'
Around the place as much as weedin'
That woman surely is a hummer:
I wouldn't get to go all summer,
Get to the water, even near to,
If her excuses I would hear to.

Times may get worse, or times may brighten
But fish are bitin' when they're bitin'
And fishin' time's the time for fishin'
They say a fellow shows ambition
When opportunity he seizes
Right then and there, not when he pleases
But that there woman's always lurkin'
Around with some excuse for workin'.

Katherine Kennelly, 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kennelly, was slightly bruised when she was struck by a motorcycle, driven by Walter Sheedlo, at Jennie and Ludington streets.

Wrapped in birch bark the excellently preserved skeleton of an Indian, believed to have been buried more than 50 years, was unearthed by a crew of men grading for the Manistique trunk line road, near the Whitefish grange hall, a short distance east of Rapid River. With the skeleton were found a tomahawk, a knife and small iron kettle, all pounded from iron and evidently having been buried with the body of the big Indian brave, more than a half century ago.

STACK'S COURSE ENDORSED

DEMONSTRATING the measure of public approval John K. Stack has won for the course he has pursued in conducting affairs of the office of auditor general of Michigan for the past year and a half and the demand that has developed for his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of governor of the state, is an editorial that appeared recently in the Pontiac Daily Press. The determination of the Escanaba official to conduct the affairs of a state office along lines similar to those that would be followed in private business, has won for him a wide degree of unpopularity with the politicians and fellow office holders at Lansing, but his course has won widespread public commendation.

Discussing Mr. Stack's record in the office he now holds and his prospective candidacy for the governorship, the Press, of Pontiac, says:

If Auditor General John K. Stack joins the merry party of gubernatorial candidates, which action seems likely, it will add strength to a group of entrants that will insure a "hoss race" this Summer and Fall.

From the day that he arrived in Lansing, Mr. Stack gave evidence of possessing plenty of "rugged individualism." We are thinking of this term when it connoted strength and capacity. That was before it was cynically tossed into the discard by Professor Tugwell.

Party fealty seems to have sat rather lightly on the Upper Peninsula man, who believes in running the affairs of the State after the fashion of operating a successful business. Always that has been lese majeste to your old time blown-in-the -bottle politician, who is inclined to think first of party welfare and secondly of sound finance and drastic economy in public affairs.

It was not John Stack's conception of his job to go into the Auditor General's office and apply a large rubber stamp reading "OKJHS" on all the bills that went across the counter. Refusal to "go along" was a poor way to make friends with the gentry whose business it is to soak the State on supplies and services of one sort and another. Stack began reading the bills item by item and sending back invoices for further information and then he ordered a pretty little rubber stamp which indicated that the bill had been rejected by his office. And from that hour he was poison to certain factions and certain politicians whose ideas of how to make a success in public life belonged to another school of political philosophy.

If he goes into the race he will be handicapped by certain politicians in his own party who regard his attitude as irritatingly narrow and who look upon his searching inquisitions as unwarranted, inhibitory and embarrassing. A chance to fatten a bill against the Commonwealth of Michigan is something to treat with respect and deference by some of the "practical" manipulators. But Stack has gone on about his way, doing his duty as he saw it. That duty was to save for the hardpressed taxpayers every penny that honestly could be rescued from questionable accounts that passed through his office.

Stack has made no effort to make himself solid with any faction, click or coterie in his party or outside of it. He soon discovered that if he were to do his duty, that his assignment was an unpopular one, but that did not deter him from proceeding without apology. His courage has on many occasions precipitated angry criticism and ugly resentment."

Perhaps the Auditor General's outstanding contribution to Michigan taxpayers occurred when he declared he would go to jail rather than permit the State Tax Sale which would have caused thousands of additional Michigan citi-

Stack's thorough business training has been of the type and character which stands as a primary necessity, in evaluating possible candidates for Governor. Michigan needs a trained Executive as never before. The mounting financial problems and the general complexity of the economic situation are sufficient to tax the capabilities of the best grounded and most ingenious students of practical affairs.

If Mr. Stack elects to run when he makes his definite decision in June, he will find himself opposed by politicians in both parties who have encountered his refusal to say "yes, yes" every time political expediency inclined the straws in a given direction. No outstanding man has yet served his State or Nation without arousing open hostilities. As Former Governor Chase S. Osborn recently remarked: "Any positive character setting out to accomplish definite objectives will soon arouse definite antagonisms."

Governor Comstock is already a candidate and with Judge Lacy of Detroit mentioned by his friends as a possibility, the Democratic pot promises to boil merrily during the coming campaign.

FEAR LABOR TROUBLES

FEAR OF labor dissensions, such as have marred the progress of industry toward stabilization in recent weeks, is given as the cause for a two point decline in steel production within the past week. During the last week steel production receded from 59 per cent of capacity to 57 per cent and until national labor unrest is quieted authorities of the steel industry do not expect any substantial increase in operations.

The single note of interest and local encouragement carried in the week's review of the steel industry by the magazine, Steel, is an announcement that the Ford Motor Company is to receive bids shortly for 5000 tons of structural steel shapes for a strip mill that is to be constructed at Dearborn, Michigan, in carrying out that company's program of expansion. As long as the Ford Motor continues to expand, hope exists that eventually the company will get around to definite use of its factory site property at Gladstone and large acreage of reclaimed agricultural lands, adjacent to that city.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS

THE innumerable labor troubles of the day make dismal reading. Now and then, however, it is instructive to compare them with the labor troubles of a century ago. The following story, printed in the London Times of May 2, 1834, makes interesting reading:

"So great is the prevalence of the spirit promulgated lately by the unions as to wages that all classes appear to be actuated by a spirit of opposition to their employers. Even the washerwomen have not escaped the system.

"No fewer than 70 of this useful class of females struck at Kensington for higher wages. It appears that 2 shillings, 6 pence per diem and two half-pints of beer has been the regular scale of wages, but a revolt was agreed upon and the price to be demanded fixed at 3 shillings per diem and the usual beer allowance.

"After a considerable time had been occupied in parleying, the washerwomen gained their point, and after taking copious libations of gin returned the following day to their tubs as usual."

That little story presents a striking picture of the labor movement a century ago. The improvement since then is too obvious to need comment.

POINT OF VIEW

THE Italian newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia, which is owned by Mussolini himself, foresees the decline and fall of the United States. Why? Because the birth rate is falling.

This, says the paper, shows a "paralysis of energy" and will result before long in national decadence.

bling of America's skyscrapers will begin."

Before getting too gloomy about this, it is well to remember that Mussolini is constantly telling the Italians about the beauties of a high birth rate; and when one recalls that Italy is already overpopulated, and that further population pressure can only add to the disastrous tensions of European politics, one suspects that America's falling birth rate will prove less dangerous than Italy's rising one.

CHAPTER XXVIII

In his first anger over Con's callousness and the shock of Madeline's death Renfroe had meant what he said when he dismissed the animal trainer. Soon, however, showmanship dominated sentiment and after three performances without Con's animal act Renfroe had reason to repent his hasty action. He therefore sent word for Con to return.

A message from the hotel where the animal trainer had stayed brought the information that he had checked out immediately after his wife's funeral and that he had left no forwarding address.

Renfroe made a round of the hotels but could find no trace of the performer. When the circus left New Orleans, therefore, it departed minus several lions, tigers and their trainer.

A period of rainy weather set in. Everyone in the troupe was downcast and ridden with the superstition that bad luck was hounding the show. Since expenses were eating up all profit and there were only a few more dates to be played before closing for the winter, Renfroe posted a notice that these engagements had been cancelled. Hence the circus did not reach Montgomery and Con failed to receive the letter Donna sent there.

The midgets took a train directly to New York where they joined a large vaudeville act made up of tiny folks like themselves, playing the circuit of the eastern cities. Later they would embark for Germany, to that section of Bavaria where so many of their kind first saw the light of day.

Two of the clowns who worked in the clothing business during the winter months went farther west. The men and women booked for the rodeo hurried on to their other show, but the majority of the troupe traveled to Chicago.

Though Con had managed to elude Renfroe, he was still in New Orleans. He had become a victim of remorse, finding (now that she was dead) that he had really cared for the girl who had given him her whole-hearted devotion. His ambition to become a star in "big time" had been destroyed with the death of the Bengal tigress, and he was in a numbed, sodden condition, refusing to take stock either of the present or the future.

He had checked out of the hotel where he and Madeline had stayed because the walls seemed to echo his dead wife's voice and he could see her in the shadows and in every hallway. Always she looked as she had that last night—white-faced and terrified, about to enter the cage with the tigress. Over and over again Con could hear Renfroe's accusation, "You killed her!"

* * *

He knew that it was true. It had been nothing more than a desire to punish Madeline for her past folly that had impelled him to force her to go through the act alone with Lucy. Madeline had not been ready to do that. She would never have been ready, for only his presence in the cage beside her had given her courage and confidence. Con knew all that now.

Moving away from the hotel, he soon found, could not erase the memories that haunted him. He thought of Madeline as she had been on the motor trip to New Orleans, laughing and gay. She had said, "If we could only go on like this forever!" and he had answered curtly. There had been other times like that, and remorse for it overwhelmed him now that it was too late. Madeline had been loyal. He knew how terrified she had been during those first days of entering the lions' cage. Yet she had gone through with it. She had done it because Con asked her to. Yes, Madeline had loved him.

Temperamental, with but little sentiment in his nature, Con was still not quite so hard-hearted or callous of feelings as he had appeared. Consequently he suffered. Because he had never been a dissipated man, a small amount of liquor intoxicated him. He found that by drinking he could forget and from the time he settled into a boarding house that had once been a stately mansion until he left the city he did not draw a completely sober breath.

The little Creole woman who owned the boarding house and called her establishment "a home for paying guests" pitied him from the depths of her sentimental heart. She made overtures of friendliness which Con ignored and she murmured often, "Such a pity! He's going to the dogs and who can blame him? So young to lose his wife that way! They were little more than bride and groom."

There were days on end when Con did not appear in the shabby, genteel dining room, when he ate what food he wanted from "hot dog" wagons or munched tamales that he bought on the streets.

There were nights when, bleary-eyed and uncertain in his walk, he wandered along the river bank until, overcome by exhaustion, he would fling himself upon the levee and sleep there until daylight awakened him.

* * *

Once so immaculate in his appearance, so clean shaven and handsome, Con looked now like a beach comber and Mrs. LaLuer, for all her sympathy, began to think that she would have to ask him to leave her boarding house.

Then one day a glimpse of his unshaven cheeks, his pasty-hued skin and hollow eyes jerked Con back to sanity. He paid his bills, packed his trunks and took the first train for Chicago.

On the long trip he took stock of his possessions. He had a little money, but funeral expenses and days of dissipation had eaten a large hole in his wallet. Obviously he could not remain in Chicago all winter with nothing to do. An engagement in "big time" vaudeville was out of the question now. It was not that there were many performers with a better act than his—even minus Madeline and the tigress—but the time when bookings should have been made was now past. Con had spent it idling about New Orleans.

He landed in Chicago during a snow storm and promptly was taken down with a severe attack of grippe. It left him with a cough and a feeling of complete fatigue that made him postpone daily any attempt to go to work.

Ordinarily he had found vaudeville bookings easy to secure, but for some reason there seemed to be very few theater managers who were willing to pay the price Con was obliged to demand for his act. This, Con assured himself, must be due to the fact that Renfroe had spread the news that he was temperamental and difficult to handle and that he had walked out on the circus.

Business was not good, the

EXCUSES

I don't depend on only wishin':
I think up reasons to go fishin',
Good reasons, too, the wind, the weather,
There's plenty of 'em, altogether.
But that don't mean I always get to,
It only means another set-to.
Whatever reason man produces,
A woman thinks up more excuses.

She thinks I ought to keep from goin'
Until I've plowed and done the sowin',
She says that fish ain't what we're needin'
Around the place as much as weedin'.
That woman surely is a hummer:
I wouldn't get to go all summer,
Get to the water, even near to,
If her excuses I would hear to.

Times may get worse, or times may brighten,
But fish are bitin' when they're bitin'
And fishin' time's the time for fishin'.
They say a fellow shows ambition
When opportunity he seizes
Right then and there, not when he pleases.
But that there woman's always lurkin'

CITY COUNCIL OKEHS BUDGET

$4,649.50 Less This Year; Board of Review Meets Monday

An expenditure of $117,-097.60 was authorized by the Escanaba city council in the adoption of the 1934 budget after the public hearing held last evening. The budget total is $4,-649.50 less than the 1933 budget, which was $121,747.10.

The sum of $500 was added last night to the original budget submitted by City Manager T. F. Kessler for additional purchase of fire hose.

In the police fund, additional money was set up for the purchase of a new automobile, three bullet proof vests and a gas gun. The library fund is increased $1,000 for the making of much needed repairs and some additional purchases of books.

Wage Raise Discussed

Another item in the budget was the inclusion of $575 for calcium chloride to be used as dust layer on some of the city's streets. The sum of $3800 was set up for rock, gravel and asphalt, which will be used for repairing various streets.

The possibilities for raising salaries of city employees was discussed briefly, but action was deferred because the council could not see its way clear to incur this additional expense, in view of the fact that the city charter does not permit levying in excess of 12.5 mills, outside of debt service, on the city's assessed valuation.

It was announced that the board of review would meet next week, beginning on Monday.

May Sell Building

The offer of Charles F. Glavin to purchase the city building in the "700" block of Ludington street was discussed briefly. Mr. Glavin has advised the council that he wishes to acquire the city property, adjoining the Sherman hotel, as he plans to enlarge the hotel by taking over the space now occupied by the A. & P. store. The city council will confer with him during the week concerning the purchase price.

After Councilman John Luecke had nominated C. N. Wood and Council Fred M. Swanson had named John Fisher Jr. for membership on the park board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. B. Moran, the council agreed for the time being to leave the membership of the board at four, instead of five as it had been for several years prior to Mr. Moran's death. It was explained, however, that originally the board was composed of three members, as called by the charter. A previous council had added two additional members. The park board members receive no compensation. The present members are C. F. Glavin, H. D. Brackett, John P. Norton and William Bonifas.

All members of the city council were present at last night's meeting, with the exception of Peter N. Logan.

McManman Holds Hearings Here

Hearings of claims for industrial compensation arising out of employment accidents were held yesterday by Leonard J. McManman, deputy commissioner of labor and industry, at the court house in Escanaba.

The case of Joseph Marmalik vs. the Sawyer-Stoll company was settled before the hearing. The case involved a claim for injuries received to the left leg while Marmalik was employed in the woods.

The following cases were heard and taken under advisement: Joseph Edwards, Nahma, vs. Bay de Noc Lumber company, claimed total disability for injuries to shoulders and back; and Edward Kinnart, Perkins vs. George Sharkey, injuries to ribs when hit by logs.

The process of canning foodstuffs was originated in 1783 by Appert, a French chef, in Paris.

PRIEST SAYS FIRST MASS

Fr. Mathias LaViolette Is Celebrant at Impressive Rites

Elaborate ceremony of beauty and lasting memory and festivities in keeping with the occasion, marked the events of the first-mass day of Rev. Fr. Mathias H. LaViolette, whose ordination to priesthood took place on Saturday.

The young priest's celebration of his first mass, a solemn high mass at 10:30 o'clock at St. Anne's church, followed his appearance at the earlier 7:30 o'clock mass at which he distributed the customary Communion to members of his family and relatives.

Preceding the hour of the mass, members of the priest's family and friends met in St. Anne's hall and marched into the church and took their places in pews reserved for them before the religious procession entered the church.

The procession in which Rev. Father LaViolette marched from the rectory into the church had twelve Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus as an escort of honor, Dr. Frederick Hirn, William Finnegan, Charles Ford, Rene Labre, Frank Hess, John A. Lemmer, Henry Buchholtz, Matt Kress, Conrad Desilets, Kevill Murphy, James Costley and Harry Moreau.

In the procession were the cross bearer, Louis Larch; acolytes, Robert DeGrande and Leonard Peltier; censer bearer, Bertrand Beauchamp; custodians of the bride, Howard LaViolette and Edmond Maranda; the tiny bride, Mary Lou Villemure; the bridesmaids, Mary Beauchamp and Anna Marie Tousignant; the torch bearers, Arthur Harvey, Francis LaViolette, Gerald DeGrand, Donald DeGrande, Donald Cyr and Russell Sheverette.

Assistants at Mass

Rev. Fr. LaViolette, celebrant of the mass, was assisted by Rev. Fr. George Laforest, Presbyter Assistant; Rev. Fr. Paul Savageau, O. Praem, Deacon; Rev. Fr. D. J. Breault, Bark River, Sub-Deacon; Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy, Master of Ceremonies, and Rev. Fr. A. C. Pellssier. In the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques, Vicar General of the Diocese, in his robes of state, and Rev. Fathers Anthony Waechter, Simeon Fielder, Joseph Duquette, Charles Schreiber, Philip de Neri Jutras, Joseph Dufour, Iron Mountain, Edward Leary, O. F. M., and Sebastian Maier.

During the solemn high mass Father LaViolette sang the Solemn Preface, a part of the impressive first-mass ceremony.

The music of the mass, which was the Mass of St. Gall, composed by Rev. Fr. F. T. Walter, who was Father LaViolette's teacher, was beautifully sung by St. Anne's choir under the direction of Miss Janet Moreau.

Church Packed

The church itself, which was packed to its doors long before the hour of the service, was beautifully decorated in white and gold.

Rev. Fr. Pellissier, former assistant at St. Anne's, who delivered the sermon, opened his talk with the apt quotation, "For young men shall dream dreams and old men shall have visions."

"One of your very own, a true native of the parish, one who was baptized here at the Baptismal Fount, who made his first Communion and was confirmed and who preached his first sermon here, now says his first mass," said Father Pelissier.

Continuing he spoke of the life of the religious, stating "when a young man chooses the vocation of priest or a young woman chooses the vocation of sisterhood, convent cells, the enclosure of monastery walls, plain fare instead of feasting, years in seminaries, mean nothing at all to them because they are reaching for a goal."

He spoke of the preparation for the life of a priest and said: "Yesterday, the day of his ordination, this priest heard words which penetrated his very soul. He received the power to offer sacrifice for the living and the dead and the power to forgive sins. Today you see him in vestments that never grow old fashioned. Today you are present for the event which is the great divide, separating the years of preparation and those of the future."

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jacques, at the close of the mass, spoke a few words, declaring the day, marking the second occasion on which one of his parish boys had said his first mass in St. Anne's church, the proudest of his life, and speaking words of congratulation to the proud parents of the newly ordained priest.

Banquet at Hotel

The first-mass banquet was served at the Delta hotel at one o'clock, with the colors of the church decorations repeated for the event.

The program of which Rev. Fr. Laforest was toastmaster, talk on "The New Priest," by him; "The Layman's Tribute," included a splendid talk by Med Beaudoin; two vocal solos, "The Old Refrain," and "Danny Boy," by Rev. Fr. Kennedy, accompanied by Mrs. William Ramspeck; a tribute to Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jacques by Rev. Fr. Pelissier in his talk, "The Church"; a talk on parish life by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jacques, during which he spoke of the loyalty of his parishioners during his 18 years at St. Anne's; two excellent numbers, "Greetings to Spring," and "The Priestly Heart, the Sacred Heart," by St. Anne's choir, accompanied by Janet Moreau; and the closing talk, an expression of appreciation by Father LaViolette.

The reception held during the afternoon at St. Anne's hall was attended by hundreds of people who wished to extend their congratulations and best wishes.

Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and Benediction followed at St. Anne's church and the day closed with a supper for clergy and relatives at the LaViolette family home.

A dinner during the hours of the banquet at the hotel was served at St. Anne's convent to Sisters of Notre Dame, Sisters of St. Joseph, Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis and the Franciscan Sisters of Divine Charity.

Luce County Fires In Control Unless Wind Gets Higher

Unless the wind freshens considerably conservation officials believe they can hold the fire lines in the two parts of the district where flames have been working in slash and second growth since Saturday. CCC men and impressed fire fighters numbering several hundred are on duty in eight hour shifts. Around 120 acres of the Superior state forest along the Blind Sucker river in the northwest part of the county are being held by CCC crews from the Superior camp. There are 64 men in each of the three eight hour shifts. Bernard McTiver, state forest superintendent, is in charge.

An 80 acre fire in the southern part of Luce county came up from District 7 where Trout Lake is headquarters. The fire started in Mackinaw county Friday and was held by the fighters until noon on Saturday when it passed the fire lines and entered Luce late in the day. CCC men from Rexton are working with conservation men on the south side of this fire. The Germfask camp sent out 40 CCC men for night work and another 40 at 5 a. m. These will be relieved at 1 p. m. There were also 25 men from the Newberry camp on the fire all day Sunday. This territory is slash and swamp and considerable cedar and pulp making is now going on in the territory. The bonds and small lakes were joined with hand dug ditches to form a fire line which will hold the flames until they burn themselves out unless the wind gets too high. Leonard Peterson, experienced fire warden from the Newberry headquarters and Harold Peters, conservation officer from the Trout Lake headquarters, are in charge of this fire.

STABBED STEPSON

John Maki, 22 year old son of Emil Maki, is in the local hospital in a serious condition from a slash in the neck and throat and state police are looking for Emil to charge him with the crime. The affair took place at the Takala farm south of Newberry. According to the report given the officers the two had been drinking. Emil fled and officers are now looking for him. John was brought to the local hospital at 5 a. m. The long gash is deep into the side of the neck and narrowly missed important blood vessels. Physicians believe he will recover.

HOUSES BURN

Two houses in Dollarville belonging to Alfred and Albert Rupert burned to the ground on Sunday afternoon. One was occupied by Charles Allerdyce and family and the other by Mrs. Hatten and her son. The fire started, according to neighbors, when a kitchen fire was hurried along with kerosene. The Newberry fire department was called and did good work keeping the flames from spreading to other wooden houses near by, several of which were on fire at different times.

GOODMAN MILL YARD FIRE

The Newberry fire department made a run early Monday morning called to a fire in the Goodman mill yard in McMillan. An old building in which a tractor was stored was burned and two decks of logs were lost. The mill was saved. It is believed that someone sleeping in the shed caused the fire.

TRIPLET BEARS

The conservation officials were nurses for a set of triplet bears for several days last week. Someone near Seney found the three in a tree and caught them, stating they believed their mother was lost. They were sent to the Germfask CCC camp for the boys to care for until it is known if they can stand living in captivity. If they thrive they will be sent to a park.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

Miss Ruth Niemi, Miss Betty Sjolander and Miss Martha Piirto, all of Ishpeming, have returned to their homes after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson. Miss Niemi is Mrs. Johnson's sister.

Charles Singleton had the misfortune to break his ankle while engaging in a friendly scuffle on Saturday night. He was taken to the Perry-Spinks hospital for treatment and later removed to his home.

Miss Helen Beaulieu is home for the summer, arriving on Sunday. She is a teacher in the Detroit schools which closed last week.

Two cars were badly damaged and several persons cut and scratched when automobiles collided on M-28 nine miles west of Newberry at 3:30 a. m. on Sunday. John Jacobson, Jr., of Newberry, was the driver of one car and W. T. Van Warner of Lansing of the other. State police investigated the accident.

ELKS' RULER VISITS CITY

Walter F. Meier Calls on Lodge Members in Escanaba

Walter F. Meier, Seattle, grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. E., was the honored guest at a reception held at the Elks club in Escanaba Sunday noon.

The national officers of the Elks order stopped off here to inspect the local club, this being the 466th he has visited during the past year. He spoke at a breakfast meeting held at Marinette Sunday morning and attended by about a hundred elks. From Escanaba, he went to Ishpeming, where a 2:30 o'clock luncheon was prepared at the Mather Inn for him and lodge members of Marquette county and vicinity. Sunday evening, he addressed a banquet meeting at Iron Mountain.

In a brief talk to the members, Mr. Meier said that the Pacific Northwest is "looking up", and that the people are no longer depression-minded. He added that many industrial and commercial concerns, which were in the red before, are now beginning to enjoy profits.

Premier Mussolini has issued several pamplets giving advice to newlyweds and implying that each couple is expected to rear twelve children.

$4,649.50 Less This Year; Board of Review Meets Monday

An expenditure of $117,097.60 was authorized by the Escanaba city council in the adoption of the 1934 budget after the public hearing held last evening. The budget total is $4,649.50 less than the 1933 budget, which was $121,747.10.

The sum of $500 was added last night to the original budget submitted by City Manager T. F. Kessler for additional purchase of fire hose.

In the police fund, additional money was set up for the purchase of a new automobile, three bullet proof vests and a gas gun. The library fund is increased $1,000 for the making of much needed repairs and some additional purchases of books.

Wage Raise Discussed

Another item in the budget was the inclusion of $575 for calcium chloride to be used as dust layer on some of the city's streets. The sum of $3800 was set up for rock, gravel and asphalt, which will be used for repairing various streets.

The possibilities for raising salaries of city employees was discussed briefly, but action was deferred because the council could not see its way clear to incur this additional expense, in view of the fact that the city charter does not permit levying in excess of 12.5 mills, outside of debt service, on the city's assessed valuation.

It was announced that the board of review would meet next week, beginning on Monday.

May Sell Building

The offer of Charles F. Glavin to purchase the city building in the "700" block of Ludington street was discussed briefly. Mr. Glavin has advised the council that he wishes to acquire the city property, adjoining the Sherman hotel, as he plans to enlarge the hotel by taking over the space now occupied by the A. & P. store. The city council will confer with him during the week concerning the purchase price.

After Councilman John Luecke had nominated C. N. Wood and Council Fred M. Swanson had named John Fisher Jr. for membership on the park board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. B. Moran, the council agreed for the time being to leave the membership of the board at four, instead of five as it had been for several years prior to Mr. Moran's death. It was explained, however, that originally the board was composed of three members, as called by the charter. A previous council had added two additional members. The park board members receive no compensation. The present members are C. F. Glavin, H. D. Brackett, John P. Norton and William Bonifas.

All members of the city council were present at last night's meeting, with the exception of Peter N. Logan.

McManman Holds Hearings Here

Hearings of claims for industrial compensation arising out of employment accidents were held yesterday by Leonard J. McManman, deputy commissioner of labor and industry, at the court house in Escanaba.

The case of Joseph Marmalik vs. the Sawyer-Stoll company was settled before the hearing. The case involved a claim for injuries received to the left leg while Marmalik was employed in the woods.

The following cases were heard and taken under advisement: Joseph Edwards, Nahma, vs. Bay de Noc Lumber company, claimed total disability for injuries to shoulders and back; and Edward Kinnart, Perkins vs. George Sharkey, injuries to ribs when hit by logs.

The process of canning foodstuffs was originated in 1783 by Appert, a French chef, in Paris.

Fr. Mathias LaViolette Is Celebrant at Impressive Rites

Elaborate ceremony of beauty and lasting memory and festivities in keeping with the occasion, marked the events of the first-mass day of Rev. Fr. Mathias H. LaViolette, whose ordination to priesthood took place on Saturday.

The young priest's celebration of his first mass, a solemn high mass at 10:30 o'clock at St. Anne's church, followed his appearance at the earlier 7:30 o'clock mass at which he distributed the customary Communion to members of his family and relatives.

Preceding the hour of the mass, members of the priest's family and friends met in St. Anne's hall and marched into the church and took their places in pews reserved for them before the religious procession entered the church.

The procession in which Rev. Father LaViolette marched from the rectory into the church had twelve Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus as an escort of honor, Dr. Frederick Hirn, William Finnegan, Charles Ford, Rene Labre, Frank Hess, John A. Lemmer, Henry Buchholtz, Matt Kress, Conrad Desilets, Kevill Murphy, James Costley and Harry Moreau.

In the procession were the cross bearer, Louis Larch; acolytes, Robert DeGrande and Leonard Peltier; censer bearer, Bertrand Beauchamp; custodians of the bride, Howard LaViolette and Edmond Maranda; the tiny bride, Mary Lou Villemure; the bridesmaids, Mary Beauchamp and Anna Marie Tousignant; the torch bearers, Arthur Harvey, Francis LaViolette, Gerald DeGrand, Donald DeGrande, Donald Cyr and Russell Sheverette.

Assistants at Mass

Rev. Fr. LaViolette, celebrant of the mass, was assisted by Rev. Fr. George Laforest, Presbyter Assistant; Rev. Fr. Paul Savageau, O. Praem, Deacon; Rev. Fr. D. J. Breault, Bark River, Sub-Deacon; Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy, Master of Ceremonies, and Rev. Fr. A. C. Pelissier. In the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques, Vicar General of the Diocese, in his robes of state, and Rev. Fathers Anthony Waechter, Simeon Fielder, Joseph Duquette, Charles Schreiber, Philip de Neri Jutras, Joseph Dufour, Iron Mountain, Edward Leary, O. F. M., and Sebastian Maier.

The music of the mass, which was the Mass of St. Gall, composed by Rev. Fr. F. T. Walter, who was Father LaViolette's teacher, was beautifully sung by St. Anne's choir under the direction of Miss Janet Moreau.

Church Packed

The church itself, which was packed to its doors long before the hour of the service, was beautifully decorated in white and gold.

Rev. Fr. Pelissier, former assistant at St. Anne's, who delivered the sermon, opened his talk with the apt quotation, "For young men shall dream dreams and old men shall have visions."

"One of your very own, a true native of the parish, one who was baptized here at the Baptismal Fount, who made his first Communion and was confirmed and who preached his first sermon here, now says his first mass," said Father Pelissier.

Continuing he spoke of the life of the religious, stating "when a young man chooses the vocation of priest or a young woman chooses the vocation of sisterhood, convent cells, the enclosure of monastery walls, plain fare instead of feasting, years in seminaries, mean nothing at all to them because they are reaching for a goal."

He spoke of the preparation for the life of a priest and said: "Yesterday, the day of his ordination, this priest heard words which penetrated his very soul. He received the power to offer sacrifice for the living and the dead and the power to forgive sins. Today you see him in vestments that never grow old fashioned. Today you are present for the event which is the great divide, separating the years of preparation and those of the future."

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jacques, at the close of the mass, spoke a few words, declaring the day, marking the second occasion on which one of his parish boys had said his first mass in St. Anne's church, the proudest of his life, and speaking words of congratulation to the proud parents of the newly ordained priest.

Banquet at Hotel

The first-mass banquet was served at the Delta hotel at one o'clock, with the colors of the church decorations repeated for the event.

The program of which Rev. Fr. Laforest was toastmaster, talk on "The New Priest," by him; "The Layman's Tribute," included a splendid talk by Med Beaudoin; two vocal solos, "The Old Refrain," and "Danny Boy," by Rev. Fr. Kennedy, accompanied by Mrs. William Ramspeck; a tribute to Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jacques by Rev. Fr. Pelissier in his talk, "The Church"; a talk on parish life by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jacques, during which he spoke of the loyalty of his parishioners during his 18 years at St. Anne's; two excellent numbers, "Greetings to Spring," and ::The Priestly Heart, the Sacred Heart," by St. Anne's choir, accompanied by Janet Moreau; and the closing talk, an expression of appreciation by Father LaViolette.

The reception held during the afternoon at St. Anne's hall was attended by hundreds of people who wished to extend their congratulations and best wishes.

Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and Benediction followed at St. Anne's church and the day closed with a supper for clergy and relatives at the LaViolette family home.

A dinner during the hours of the banquet at the hotel was served at St. Anne's convent to Sisters of Notre Dame, Sisters of St. Joseph, Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis and the Franciscan Sisters of Divine Charity.

Luce County Fires In Control Unless Wind Gets Higher

Unless the wind freshens considerably conservation officials believe they can hold the fire lines in the two parts of the district where flames have been working in slash and second growth since Saturday. CCC men and impressed fire fighters numbering several hundred are on duty in eight hour shifts. Around 120 acres of the Superior state forest along the Blind Sucker river in the northwest part of the county are being held by CCC crews from the Superior camp. There are 64 men in each of the three eight hour shifts. Bernard McTiver, state forest superintendent, is in charge.

An 80 acre fire in the southern part of Luce county came up from District 7 where Trout Lake is headquarters. The fire started in Mackinaw county Friday and was held by the fighters until noon on Saturday when it passed the fire lines and entered Luce late in the day. CCC men from Rexton are working with conservation men on the south side of this fire. The Germfask camp sent out 40 CCC men for night work and another 40 at 5 a. m. These will be relieved at 1 p. m. There were also 25 men from the Newberry camp on the fire all day Sunday. This territory is slash and swamp and considerable cedar and pulp making is now going on in the territory. The bonds and small lakes were joined with hand dug ditches to form a fire line which will hold the flames until they burn themselves out unless the wind gets too high. Leonard Peterson, experienced fire warden from the Newberry headquarters and Harold Peters, conservation officer from the Trout Lake headquarters, are in charge of this fire.

STABBED STEPSON

John Maki, 22 year old son of Emil Maki, is in the local hospital in a serious condition from a slash in the neck and throat and state police are looking for Emil to charge him with the crime. The affair took place at the Takala farm south of Newberry. According to the report given the officers the two had been drinking. Emil fled and officers are now looking for him. John was brought to the local hospital at 5 a. m. The long gash is deep into the side of the neck and narrowly missed important blood vessels. Physicians believe he will recover.

HOUSES BURN

Two houses in Dollarville belonging to Alfred and Albert Rupert burned to the ground on Sunday afternoon. One was occupied by Charles Allerdyce and family and the other by Mrs. Hatten and her son. The fire started, according to neighbors, when a kitchen fire was hurried along with kerosene. The Newberry fire department was called and did good work keeping the flames from spreading to other wooden houses near by, several of which were on fire at different times.

GOODMAN MILL YARD FIRE

The Newberry fire department made a run early Monday morning called to a fire in the Goodman mill yard in McMillan. An old building in which a tractor was stored was burned and two decks of logs were lost. The mill was saved. It is believed that someone sleeping in the shed caused the fire.

TRIPLET BEARS

The conservation officials were nurses for a set of triplet bears for several days last week. Someone near Seney found the three in a tree and caught them, stating they believed their mother was lost. They were sent to the Germfask CCC camp for the boys to care for until it is known if they can stand living in captivity. If they thrive they will be sent to a park.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

HAASE SPEAKS AT ROTE MEET

Marinette Judge Tells of Juvenile Delinquency Problems

Insisting that a juvenile court should not be considered as a court, in the general acceptance of that word, but an investigating committee, designed to aid juveniles rather than to punish them, Judge William F. Haase, of the Marinette county court, delivered a strong appeal before members of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday for a more humane understanding of the problems of juvenile delinquents.

Judge Haas recited numerous instances from his personal experience in proof of his contention that sympathetic understanding of youthful characteristics and youthful problems are more necessary in the solution of problems of juvenile delinquency than a rule of thumb enforcement of man made statutes of law. He stressed the fact that juvenile delinquents are too frequently converted into confirmed criminals through the too hasty acceptance of recommendations of over-zealous peace officers, who demand severe punishment for what are in reality trivial offenses on the part of youthful offenders. He offered the case of the notorious gangster John Dillinger, as a perfect example of the mind of a youth being permanently poisoned against both law and society, by harsh punishment for a minor offense in his boyhood days.

The speaker made a fervent plea for a greater interest on the part of all public spirited men and women in the problems of the neglected child and the youth of wholesome environment, found, he asserted, in every community, as an activity that will bear greater results in community betterment than any other movement that can be fostered. Judge Haase also explained the operation of the county court system in Wisconsin, which compares in measure with the probate court of this state. In addition to probate matters and the hearing of juvenile matters, the Marinette county court has jurisdiction in all civil cases involving amounts up to $25,000 and criminal cases in all charges up to the crime of murder. He pointed to the advantage of such a court in the fact that it is in session every working day of every week, making it possible to dispose of many both civil and criminal matters without waiting for the convening of sessions of the circuit court, as required in the court systems of most counties in Michigan.

GREAT ICE AGE TOPIC OF TALK

Wheaton Strom Explains Effects of Glaciers in This Area

The effects of glacial action upon this Great Lakes country during the Pleistocene Epoch, or Great Ice Age, were described in a highly interesting and instructive talk delivered by Wheaton Strom at the luncheon meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis club at the Ludington hotel yesterday noon.

Mr. Strom, who majored in geology while studying at the University of Michigan, explained various geological changes of the earth, and in concluding his address told of the evolution of man and animals throughout the ages.

During the Pleistocene period, the mean climate was sufficiently cold so that more snow fell than that which melted, resulting in an accumulation of snow and ice that formed what are known as glaciers, according to Mr. Strom. These ice sheets extended from northern Canada down to southern Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, but their position was not always constant, often moving over new territory in the middle west. In fact, this ice mantle at one time covered a very large part of the northern hemisphere, he said.

As these glaciers melted and moved with the raising of temperature in this region, large rocks were picked up and dragged over the earth's surface. Large basins were hollowed out by the glaciers, forming what are known now as the Great Lakes.

The formation of the gorges at Niagara Falls was also explained by the speaker. Near Stephenson, he said, is a gravel mound which meanders for about five or six miles, which apparently was formed by a river which ran its course at the bottom of a glacier, and became filled with rocks and gravel that had been held in suspension in the ice sheet before its melting. He also described a drum-like shaped mound near Wilson, which from all evidences must have been deposited there by glacial action.

President S. R. Wickman announced that a joint meeting of the Kiwanis clubs of Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Ironwood would be held at the Iron Inn at Iron River Thursday evening. Clarence Whiffen, Sheboygan, governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district, Kiwanis International, will address the meeting. Various entertainment features also will be offered on the program.

NEWS! Science reveals important new Facts for Smokers!

Camel Smokers can verify these facts!

A famous New York research laboratory announces a basic discovery that throws new light on our past knowledge of cigarettes. It embodies an "energizing effect" . . . a quick restoration of the flow of natural body energy . . . an experience well known to Camel smokers. When you smoke a Camel you feel an almost immediate relief from fatigue. What has actually happened is that you have released and made available the latent energy in your body. You've helped your body to help itself. During the day your energy curve hits certain low points. Camels raise your flow of energy . . . quickly, conveniently and without jangling your nerves.

There's a "Lift" in CAMELS that drives away Fatigue and Irritability

Feel "all in"? Then's the best time to light a Camel.

It's cool and fragrant and delightful . . . but far more important than that, it brings your flow of energy up from the depths!

You feel fatigue vanish. Irritability seems to slip away. And you go back to work—or play—with the energy and cheerfulness that are naturally yours.

YOU'VE HAD THE EXPERIENCE... HERE'S THE EXPLANATION!

This experience is no news to Camel smokers. But the explanation is news—and good news—to everyone.

The "lift" you get from smoking Camels is simply a release of the natural latent energy in your body. In other words you have helped your body to help itself . . . easily, naturally, and without the slightest strain.

Remember this explanation when your energy curve is "down"... times when you're irritable and your brain just doesn't seem to work and you feel too tired to move. At such times . . . "Get a lift with a Camel!"

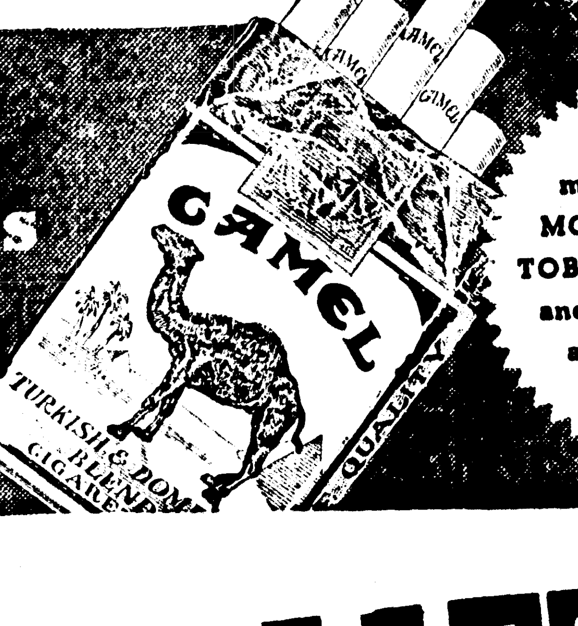
AND CAMELS NEVER JANGLE YOUR NERVES!

Camel fans smoke frequently — and they can — as often as they like. Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on the nerves.

Keep your flow of energy at a higher level with Camels.

TOO TIRED FOR FUN... and then she smoked a Camel!

CAMELS Costlier Tobaccos never get on your Nerves



Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

KNOW THIS FEELING? The feeling of being too "all in" to respond to the gaiety of the crowd? No taste for the pleasure and fun of the sort of social evening that you would ordinarily look forward to? That's one of the many times to light a Camel, enjoying its rich flavor while your flow of natural, healthful energy is restored. You'll like Camels—a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos!

GREAT ICE AGE TOPIC OF TALK

Wheaton Strom Explains Effects of Glaciers in This Area

The effects of glacial action upon this Great Lakes country during the Pleistocene Epoch, or Great Ice Age, were described in a highly interesting and instructive talk delivered by Wheaton Strom at the luncheon meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis club at the Ludington hotel yesterday noon.

Mr. Strom, who majored in geology while studying at the University of Michigan, explained various geological changes of the earth, and in concluding his address told of the evolution of man and animals throughout the ages.

During the Pleistocene period, the mean climate was sufficiently cold so that more snow fell than that which melted, resulting in an accumulation of snow and ice that formed what are known as glaciers, according to Mr. Strom. These ice sheets extended from northern Canada down to southern Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, but their position was not always constant, often moving over new territory in the middle west. In fact, this ice mantle at one time covered a very large part of the northern hemisphere, he said.

As these glaciers melted and moved with the raising of temperature in this region, large rocks were picked up and dragged over the earth's surface. Large basins were hollowed out by the glaciers, forming what are known now as the Great Lakes.

The formation of the gorges at Niagara Falls was also explained by the speaker. Near Stephenson, he said, is a gravel mound which meanders for about five or six miles, which apparently was formed by a river which ran its course at the bottom of a glacier, and became filled with rocks and gravel that had been held in suspension in the ice sheet before its melting. He also described a drum-like shaped mound near Wilson, which from all evidences must have been deposited there by glacial action.

President S. R. Wickman announced that a joint meeting of the Kiwanis clubs of Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Ironwood would be held at the Iron Inn at Iron River Thursday evening. Clarence Whiffen, Sheboygan, governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district, Kiwanis International, will address the meeting. Various entertainment features also will be offered on the program.

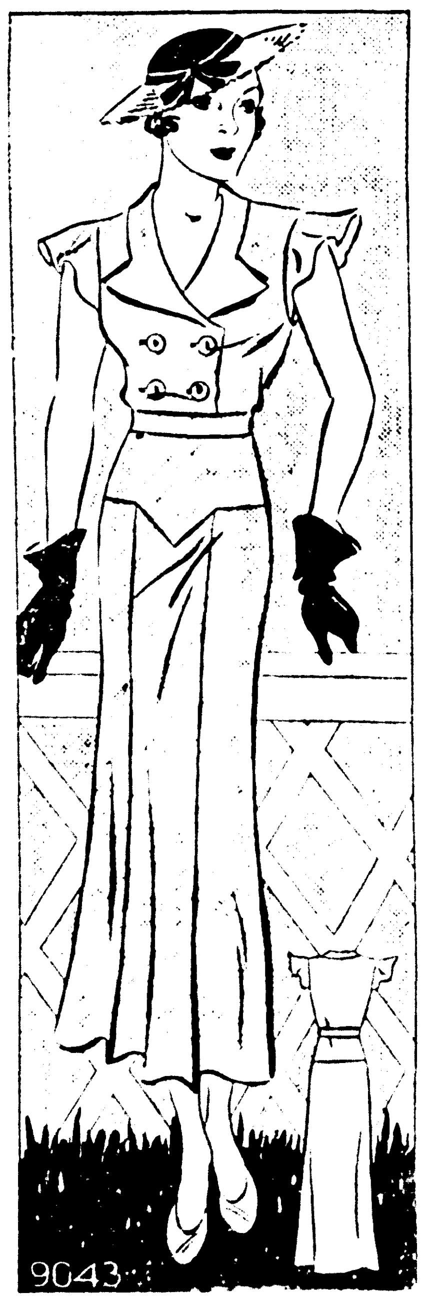
Crisp Fabric Should Be Used For This Frock

BY MARIAN MARTIN



PATTERN 9043

Don't choose too soft a fabric for this stunning little frock. It needs something that will be slightly crisp in the shoulder ruffles and which will maintain the tailored lines of the bodice and skirt. Shantung would do it ... Having taken this simple precaution, the design will do the rest ... that kind of a design. It is a sort of highly feminized ... frock with sleeves ... and clever touches added here and there.

Pattern 9043 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 yards 36 inch fabric and 5-8 yard contrasting.

Crisp Fabric Should Be Used For This Frock

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9043

Don't choose too soft a fabric for this stunning little frock. It needs something that will be slightly crisp in the shoulder ruffles and which will maintain the tailored lines of the bodice and skirt. Shantung would do it—or pique or linen or even seersucker. Having taken this simple precaution, the design will do the rest—it's that kind of a design. It is a sort of highly feminized shirtwaist frock with sleeves omitted and clever touches added here and there.

Pattern 9043 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 yards 36 inch fabric and 5-8 yard contrasting.

REV. S. MAIER ROTE SPEAKER

Vital Social Problems of Present Day Are Discussed

Vital social problems that confront us today were discussed in interesting manner before the Gladstone Rotary club yesterday noon by the Rev. Fr. Sebastian Maier, pastor of All Saints' Catholic church.

Among the problems that beset our social system at the present time, the pastor listed: Youth, Crime, Divorce, Modern Machinery, Capital and Labor, and War and Peace.

The youth problem is one of the oldest, but it still remains. The big worry, Rev. Maier said, is juvenile delinquency and although schools and churches have discussed the matter, no solution has yet been found.

In speaking of crime, the speaker stated that although we prate about strides made in civilization there was never a time in history that we were so insecure and reference was made to the unprecedented waves of kidnapings and murders that have swept the nation.

Divorce is also making inroads on our social order said the speaker. One of every five marriages, figures show, end in divorce courts. This is an attack on the unity of the home. Since our society is built on the permanency of the home divorce is therefore undermining society, it was pointed out.

Modern machinery, too, presents a problem, it was stated, high speed machines replacing men and causing overproduction, having thrown our economic system out of order, making some adjustment imperative. Whether such an adjustment can be made, or whether it will be necessary to scrap the machine and use manual labor is the big question, the speaker said.

Old as the world itself is the problem of capital and labor, said the speaker, who pointed out that the problem here is to find the reason for the great chasm which separates the rich and the poor. When it is acknowledged that the wealth of the world is concentrated among a few persons, it must also be admitted that labor has not been treated fairly. There is injustice when an industrialist can amass millions while a poor workingman will continue along at the same job for 30 years or more. Various rights to which every man should be entitled were listed.

The laboring man also has faults, the speaker said, one of the big ones being that they listen to agitators with resultant unrest. Touching on unions, Rev. Maier said that while they have their benefits they also have their abuses, in that unionism fails to reward competency.

All are deep problems, and should be treated by both employers and employes with open minds. Cooperation is the need of the hour and all should work together towards their successful solution for upon such solution rests our social welfare and health, Rev. Maier said in closing.

City Expenditures Ran Under Estimate 8 Out of 10 Years

For the past ten years there has been an average fund balance at the close of each fiscal year of $483.11, it is disclosed in a schedule of fund balances in the audit recently made by C. E. Kelso, Escanaba, public accountant.

The statement shows that in eight of the ten years, affairs of the city were conducted within the limits of the budget and that good balances were left at the end of each year. In two of the ten, due to welfare loads, there occurred overdrafts, the largest in 1932-33 when expenditures ran some $15,000 over the budget estimate.

This was due mainly to an unprecedented welfare load in which both direct and work relief figured. A statement of fund balances for that year shows in which funds the overdrafts occurred. Aid from the government in the form of FERA and later the CWA took this burden from the city during the past year.

Following is the audit statement of fund balances for the past ten fiscal years:

| Year | | Balance |
|---|---|---|
| 1924-25 | | $ 1,525.08 |
| 1925-26 | | 2,213.13 |

| 1828-29 | | 3,309.73 |
| 1929-30 | | 2,325.10 |
| 1930-31 | | 5,190.50 |
| 1931-32 | * | 1,391.78 |
| 1932-33 | * | 15,128.39 |
| 1933-34 | | 1,748.13 |
| Total | | $ 4,831.12 |

(* denotes overdraft).

DISEASE FEARED IN LOCAL TREES

Stewart Gives Characteristics of Deadly Dutch Elm Spread

"Numerous reports have been made to this office relative to the fear that Dutch elm disease has appeared in the shade trees of Manistique," says Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent. "The following information has just been released by the United States department of agriculture, relative to this disease, and is worthy of consideration by any one who has elm trees in their yard."

The American elm, one of the country's finest shade trees, which grows from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, will be in danger of extinction, if the Dutch elm disease shows the same virulence in the United States as in Europe, is the opinion of scientists in the United States department of agriculture.

In the country surrounding New York harbor, where the disease was found less than a year ago, more than 1,400 infected trees have been located and destroyed in 8 months of scouting. Many of these were found during the winter months when the disease is dormant. A better idea of the spread of the disease will be obtained by work this summer.

Characteristics of the disease are wilting, yellow or brown leaves, and brown streaks in the young wood, where a clean-cut twig will show a circular, brownish discoloration in the sapwood. If an elm has any of These symptoms, twigs the size of a lead pencil or larger, which show the brown streaks, should be sent to the Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, Room 207, Post Office Building, Morristown, New Jersey. The exact location of the elm should be given.

No Cure

No cure is known for Dutch elm disease, a fungous growth which clogs up the sap channels of the tree, literally choking the tree to death. The only method of control is finding infected trees and destroying them. Government workers believe that infection is spread from tree to tree by the European elm bark beetle, and there is also the possibility that other insects could spread the disease.

In Europe in 10 years Dutch elm disease spread from Holland as far north as Norway and south into northern Italy, showing that it flourishes in both cool and warm climates, and apparently affects all elms.

It is probable Dutch elm disease was brought to this country on burl elm logs to be used for furniture veneer. The first infection here was reported in Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1930, but only 9 were found in 4 years and it is hoped the spread there has been stopped.

Mike Flees from Cage At Parker's Resort Saturday

Mike, the popular Michigan brown bear at Parker's Resort who has entertained thousands of tourists in the past four and one-half years of his captivity, is now having a fling at freedom. He escaped from his cage Saturday afternoon when he took a sudden notion to roam the woods when his owner, Earl Parker, opened the cage door. Mr. Parker followed the same procedure he has used daily, but the bear, probably seized with spring fever, brushed past Mr. Parker to gain his freedom.

Thus far Mike has confined his rovings to the immediate vicinity and can generally be seen ambling along the highway in the neighborhood of the resort. Sometime he becomes so provocative as to wander about on the resort steps. Sunday, after the bear had climbed a tree, Mr. Parker attempted to have him come down, but just when it appeared as though the owner was winning the battle, several parties of motorists who had been attracted by the scene, came into proximity to make further pleading with the bashful bruin a useless effort.

Yesterday morning it was reported that Mike was seen with a mate, Mike walking along the side of the road with another bear a few feet off mushing around in a ditch. If it is true that Mike has found a companion, Mr. Parker believes he will have little chance to recover him. Mike has been an important personage of the resort ever since he was a six-months-old cub. Pat, a playmate of Mike, died about a year ago.

Mike is a playful fellow and is not regarded as being the least bit dangerous. It is feared, however, that as long as he confines his activities along the highway, he may be run over by a car.

REV. S. MAIER ROTE SPEAKER

Vital Social Problems of Present Day Are Discussed

Vital social problems that confront us today were discussed in interesting manner before the Gladstone Rotary club yesterday noon by the Rev. Fr. Sebastian Maier, pastor of All Saints' Catholic church.

Among the problems that beset our social system at the present time, the pastor listed: Youth, Crime, Divorce, Modern Machinery, Capital and Labor, and War and Peace.

The youth problem is one of the oldest, but it still remains. The big worry, Rev. Maier said, is juvenile delinquency and although schools and churches have discussed the matter, no solution has yet been found.

In speaking of crime, the speaker stated that although we prate about strides made in civilization there was never a time in history that we were so insecure and reference was made to the unprecedented waves of kidnapings and murders that have swept the nation.

Divorce is also making inroads on our social order said the speaker. One of every five marriages, figures show, end in divorce courts. This is an attack on the unity of the home. Since our society is built on the permanency of the home divorce is therefore undermining society, it was pointed out.

Modern machinery, too, presents a problem, it was stated, high speed machines replacing men and causing overproduction, having thrown our economic system out of order, making some adjustment imperative. Whether such an adjustment can be made, or whether it will be necessary to scrap the machine and use manual labor is the big question, the speaker said.

Old as the world itself is the problem of capital and labor, said the speaker, who pointed out that the problem here is to find the reason for the great chasm which separates the rich and the poor. When it is acknowledged that the wealth of the world is concentrated among a few persons, it must also be admitted that labor has not been treated fairly. There is injustice when an industrialist can amass millions while a poor workingman will continue along at the same job for 30 years or more. Various rights to which every man should be entitled were listed.

The laboring man also has faults, the speaker said, one of the big ones being that they listen to agitators with resultant unrest. Touching on unions, Rev. Maier said that while they have their benefits they also have their abuses, in that unionism fails to reward competency.

All are deep problems, and should be treated by both employers and employes with open minds. Cooperation is the need of the hour and all should work together towards their successful solution for upon such solution rests our social welfare and health, Rev. Maier said in closing.

City Expenditures Ran Under Estimate 8 Out of 10 Years

For the past ten years there has been an average fund balance at the close of each fiscal year of $483.11, it is disclosed in a schedule of fund balances in the audit recently made by C. E. Kelso, Escanaba, public accountant.

The statement shows that in eight of the ten years, affairs of the city were conducted within the limits of the budget and that good balances were left at the end of each year. In two of the ten, due to welfare loads, there occurred overdrafts, the largest in 1932-33 when expenditures ran some $15,000 over the budget estimate.

This was due mainly to an unprecedented welfare load in which both direct and work relief figured. A statement of fund balances for that year shows in which funds the overdrafts occurred. Aid from the government in the form of FERA and later the CWA took this burden from the city during the past year.

Following is the audit statement of fund balances for the past ten fiscal years:

| Year | Balance |
|---|---|
| 1924-25 | $ 1,525.08 |
| 1925-26 | 2,213.13 |

Stewart Gives Characteristics of Deadly Dutch Elm Spread

"Numerous reports have been made to this office, relative to the fear that Dutch elm disease has appeared in the shade trees of Manistique," says Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent. "The following information has just been released by the United States department of agriculture, relative to this disease, and is worthy of consideration by any one who has elm trees in their yard."

The American elm, one of the country's finest shade trees, which grows from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico, will be in danger of extinction, if the Dutch elm disease shows the same virulence in the United States as in Europe, is the opinion of scientists in the United States department of agriculture.

In the country surrounding New York harbor, where the disease was found less than a year ago, more than 1,400 infected trees have been located and destroyed in 8 months of scouting. Many of these were found during the winter months when the disease is dormant. A better idea of the spread of the disease will be obtained by work this summer.

Characteristics of the disease are wilting, yellow or brown leaves, and brown streaks in the young wood, where a clean-cut twig will show a circular, brownish discoloration in the sapwood. If an elm has any of These symptoms, twigs the size of a lead pencil or larger, which show the brown streaks, should be sent to the Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, Room 207, Post Office Building, Morristown, New Jersey. The exact location of the elm should be given.

No Cure

No cure is known for Dutch elm disease, a fungous growth which clogs up the sap channels of the tree, literally choking the tree to death. The only method of control is finding infected trees and destroying them. Government workers believe that infection is spread from tree to tree by the European elm bark beetle, and there is also the possibility that other insects could spread the disease.

In Europe in 10 years Dutch elm disease spread from Holland as far north as Norway and south into northern Italy, showing that it flourishes in both cool and warm climates, and apparently affects all elms.

It is probable Dutch elm disease was brought to this country on burl elm logs to be used for furniture veneer. The first infection here was reported in Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1930, but only 9 were found in 4 years and it is hoped the spread there has been stopped.

Mike Flees from Cage At Parker's Resort Saturday

Mike, the popular Michigan brown bear at Parker's Resort who has entertained thousands of tourists in the past four and one-half years of his captivity, is now having a fling at freedom. He escaped from his cage Saturday afternoon when he took a sudden notion to roam the woods when his owner, Earl Parker, opened the cage door. Mr. Parker followed the same procedure he has used daily, but the bear, probably seized with spring fever, brushed past Mr. Parker to gain his freedom.

Thus far Mike has confined his rovings to the immediate vicinity and can generally be seen ambling along the highway in the neighborhood of the resort. Sometime he becomes so provocative as to wander about on the resort steps. Sunday, after the bear had climbed a tree, Mr. Parker attempted to have him come down, but just when it appeared as though the owner was winning the battle, several parties of motorists who had been attracted by the scene, came into proximity to make further pleading with the bashful bruin a useless effort.

Yesterday morning it was reported that Mike was seen with a mate, Mike walking along the side of the road with another bear a few feet off mushing around in a ditch. If it is true that Mike has found a companion, Mr. Parker believes he will have little chance to recover him. Mike has been an important personage of the resort ever since he was a six-months-old cub. Pat, a playmate of Mike, died about a year ago.

Mike is a playful fellow and is not regarded as being the least bit dangerous. It is feared, however, that as long as he confines his activities along the highway, he may be run over by a car.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 28 (AP)—Stocks lagged behind the soaring grain market today but crept ahead quietly in continuation of the previous slow advance.

While speculators shifted into grains for real action, trading remained at low ebb on the stock exchange. Sales totaled 611,870 shares, only a modest improvement over the preceding two full sessions.

The average price of 90 stocks closed six-tenths of a point higher at 78.1, the fourth consecutive session of creeping advances. Industrial shares on the average returned to approximately the tops of the recent high from the May low levels.

Strong spots, with net gains of 1 to 3 points, included Du Pont, Cudahy Packing, American Snuff preferred, Columbia Pictures, Minneapolis Honeywell Register, Union Bag & Paper and Auburn Auto. Small buying was sufficient to lift prices in face of the thinness of the market. American Can, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, General Electric and others picked up fractional gains in line with the market generally.

New York, May 28 (AP)—The bond market, as a whole, displayed a steady to firm tone today, although trading was extremely dull and most of the gains notably small.

Transfers of $8,693,000, par value, compared with $1,071,000 last Friday. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues advanced two-tenths of a point to 86.

Union Pacific first 4s edged up to a new high for the past several years and Burlington general 4s passed their old record top. Other modest gainers in the transportation list included some liens of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corp., Chicago & North Western, Colorado & Southern, Great Northern, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Pennsylvania, Southern and Delaware & Hudson.

Among the better bonds in the other divisions were those of American & Foreign Power, General Steel Castings, Hudson Coal, International Telephone, McKesson, North American, St. Joseph Lead and United Drug.

The majority of U. S. government securities were a trifle easier, but the turnover here amounted to only about $1,000,000. Dealers believed that any treasury announcement of a large long term bond offering for June 15, probably will be made the latter part of this week. In the meantime followers of the federal department were showing a preference for the sidelines.

Level Is Higher On Curb Market; Specialties Gain

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 28 (AP)—Moderately higher levels ruled at the finish of the curb market today. Improvement was largely fractional although a number of specialties gained a point or so. Oils, metals and utilities were prominent among the gainers. Volume continued light.

International Petroleum was heavily traded at a point advance, while similar advances were recorded by National Sugar, which advanced in sympathy with firmness of the sugar group on the big board. Aluminum Company of America, Hiram Walker, New Jersey Zinc, Swift International and Sherwin Williams also ended around a point higher.

Lesser gains were recorded by American Gas & Electric, Electric Bond and Share, Distillers Corporation Seagrams, Lake Shore, Hollinger Gold, Standard Oil of Indiana, Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves and Humble Oil.

agents told him. Pictures drew better than vaudeville and a good single did as much to fill a house as an animal act, which entailed much greater expense. Con's act, they said, belonged in a circus, anyway, where there were facilities for taking care of the animals. Small theaters lacked the space necessary. Con heard the same objections over and over.

Perhaps had conditions been different he would not have given Amos Siddal and his farm so much as a thought, but after several days of vain attempts to find employment it occurred to the animal trainer that there should be a welcome for Madeline's husband at the farm. It would also be cheaper to recuperate there from his illness. A farm should have plenty of fresh milk, fresh eggs and little excitement.

* * *

Besides that he could see Donna again. This idea intrigued Con. He could see how she and her farmer husband were making out. Probably she would not offer him a very cordial welcome. On the other hand, she might be bored by this time with the life she had been leading. If that were true she would receive her old friend with open arms.

Con knew how Madeline and Donna had hoodwinked Amos Siddal by exchanging identities. Now he decided that, unless she had admitted the truth to the family, it was high time she should be compelled to do so. When Grandfather Siddal died the fortune he left to his grandchild would, by rights, belong to Madeline's husband.

Thus Con reasoned himself into a frame of mind that sent him to a ticket agency to buy a ticket to Lebanon. There was no use, he decided, to send word to the farm that he was coming. He wanted to get the lay of the land before he walked in on them.

He was not conscious of any desire to injure Donna as he made these plans. If anyone were to suffer, Con thought, it would be her husband. Embittered by the many blows he had received in the past few months, Con centered his rancor on the man who, he felt had robbed him of the only woman he had ever really loved.

That Donna had never cared for him did not matter, or the fact that, if the blame lay at any one's door, it lay at Madeline's.

Con argued that Donna had married someone else and, because of this, the whole structure of his future had fallen.

Some men become big with adversity, develop muscles of character and principles, but Con David shriveled and lost the decency that had carried him far in his chosen profession.

On the trip to Lebanon he visioned himself as Donna's husband and the master of the Siddal property. He saw Bill Siddal knawing his lip with chagrin and eating his heart out with disappointment. This picture seemed to please Con mightily.

Drenova, Yugoslavia (AP)—When a dead man has to cross international borders with his passport properly visaed, it doesn't bother him much, but is likely to be a nuisance to his relatives.

That's what the inhabitants of this little village thought, since they live in Yugoslavia and their parish church, on the edge of town, was in Italy.

Finally the pious Slovenes scraped up some money and now there is a new church on their own side of the border.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 28 (AP)—Stocks lagged behind the soaring grain market today but crept ahead quietly in continuation of the previous slow advance.

While speculators shifted into grains for real action, trading remained at low ebb on the stock exchange. Sales totaled 611,870 shares, only a modest improvement over the preceding two full sessions.

The average price of 90 stocks closed six-tenths of a point higher at 78.1, the fourth consecutive session of creeping advance. Industrial shares on the average returned to approximately the tops of the recent high from the May low levels.

Strong spots, with net gains of 1 to 3 points, included Du Pont, Cudahy Packing, American Snugg preferred, Columbia Pictures, Minneapolis Honeywell Register, Union Bag & Paper and Auburn Auto. Small buying was sufficient to lift prices in face of the thinness of the market. American Can, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, General Electric and others picked up fractional gains in line with the market generally.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, May 28—In whirlwind buying rushes today, wheat, corn, barley and oats each overtopped season high-price records, wheat jumping 5 cents and almost hitting $1.00 a bushel.

Temperatures that soared to 106 in the Dakotas and 100 in Canada, with nearly complete absence of moisture throughout domestic spring wheat territory, came as a surprise to most traders, indications over the week-end having pointed to possible general break-up of drought this week. On the contrary, today's forecasts pointed to little or no relief for drought conditions that for extent and severity were declared by some authorities to be without precedent in the United States.

Wheat closed excited at the maximum 5-cents advance allowed for a single day, with oats and barley both also at the maximum permitted. The close in wheat was 4 7-8 to 5 cents up, compared with Saturday's finish, corn 3 1-8 to 3 5-8 advanced, oats at 2 7-8 to 3 1-8 gain, and provisions showing a rise of 7 to 17 cents.

Corn, oats and other grains all responded to the buoyancy of wheat prices and to sensational crop damage done, especially to oats. Corn reached quotations equivalent to 45 cents a bushel on farms, enabling sales at a profit over amounts obtained on government loans.

BY VICTOR EUBANK
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 28 (AP)—The bond market, as a whole, displayed a steady to firm tone today, although trading was extremely dull and most of the gains notably small.

Transfers of $8,693,000, par value, compared with $1,071,000 last Friday. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues advanced two-tenths of a point to 86.

Union Pacific first 4s edged up to a new high for the past several years and Burlington general 4s passed their old record top. Other modest gainers in the transportation list included some liens of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corp., Chicago & North Western, Colorado & Southern, Great Northern, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Pennsylvania, Southern and Delaware & Hudson.

Among the better bonds in the other divisions were those of American & Foreign Power, General Steel Castings, Hudson Coal, International Telephone, McKesson, North American, St. Joseph Lead and United Drug.

The majority of U. S. government securities were a trifle easier, but the turnover here amounted to only about $1,000,000. Dealers believed that any treasury announcement of a large long-term bond offering for June 15, probably will be made the latter part of this week. In the meantime followers of the federal department were showing a preference for the sidelines.

Level Is Higher On Curb Market; Specialties Gain

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, May 28 (AP)—Moderately higher levels ruled at the finish of the curb market today. Improvement was largely fractional although a number of specialties gained a point or so. Oils, metals and utilities were prominent among the gainers. Volume continued light.

International Petroleum was heavily traded at a point advance, while similar advances were recorded by National Sugar, which advanced in sympathy with firmness of the sugar group on the big board. Aluminum Company of America, Hiram Walker, New Jersey Zinc, Swift International and Sherwin Williams also ended around a point higher.

Lesser gains were recorded by American Gas & Electric, Electric Bond and Share, Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Lake Shore, Hollinger Gold, Standard Oil of Indiana, Tech Hughes, Wright Hargreaves and Humble Oil.

Transfers approximated 138,000 shares compared with last Friday's record low of 102,000.

agents told him. Pictures drew better than vaudeville and a good single did as much to fill a house as an animal act, which entailed much greater expense. Con's act, they said, belonged in a circus, anyway, where there were facilities for taking care of the animals. Small theaters lacked the space necessary. Con heard the same objections over and over.

Perhaps had conditions been different he would not have given Amos Siddal and his farm so much as a thought, but after several days of vain attempts to find employment it occurred to the animal trainer that there should be a welcome for Madeline's husband at the farm. It would also be cheaper to recuperate there from his illness. A farm should have plenty of fresh milk, fresh eggs and little excitement.

* * *

Besides that he could see Donna again. This idea intrigued Con. He could see how she and her farmer husband were making out. Probably she would not offer him a very cordial welcome. On the other hand, she might be bored by this time with the life she had been leading. If that were true she would receive her old friend with open arms.

Con knew how Madeline and Donna had hoodwinked Amos Siddal by exchanging identities. Now he decided that, unless she had admitted the truth to the family, it was high time she should be compelled to do so. When Grandfather Siddal died the fortune he left to his grandchild would, by rights, belong to Madeline's husband.

Thus Con reasoned himself into a frame of mind that sent him to a ticket agency to buy a ticket to Lebanon. There was no use, he decided, to send word to the farm that he was coming. He wanted to get the lay of the land before he walked in on them.

He was not conscious of any desire to injure Donna as he made these plans. If anyone were to suffer, Con thought, it would be her husband. Embittered by the many blows he had received in the past few months, Con centered his rancor on the man who, he felt, had robbed him of the only woman he had ever really loved.

That Donna had never cared for him did not matter, or the fact that, if the blame lay at anyone's door, it lay at Madeline's.

Con argued that Donna had married someone else and, because of this, the whole structure of his future had fallen.

Some men become big with adversity, develop muscles of character and principles, but Con David shriveled and lost the decency that had carried him far in his chosen profession.

On the trip to Lebanon he visioned himself as Donna's husband and the master of the Siddal property. He saw Bill Siddal knawing his lip with chagrin and eating his heart out with disappointment. This picture seemed to please Con mightily.

Drenova, Yugoslavia (AP) — When a dead man has to cross international borders with his passport properly visaed, it doesn't bother him much, but is likely to be a nuisance to his relatives.

That's what the inhabitants of this little village thought, since they live in Yugoslavia and their parish church, on the edge of town, was in Italy.

Finally the pious Slovenes scraped up some money and now there is a new church on their own side of the border.

Ross Takes Welterweight Title From Mc Larnin

JOE ANDERSON GETS DECISION OVER JOE LAFLEUR

JUDGES SPLIT OVER DECISION

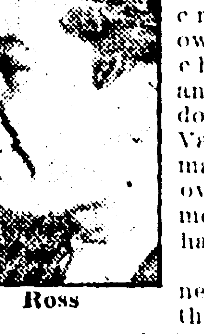
Winner First To Claim Two Championships; 65,000 Attend

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Madison Square Garden Bowl, New York, May 28 (AP)—A little black-haired whirlwind from Chicago, glittery-eyed Barney Ross, wrote a brand new chaper in ringdom's fantastic history tonight as he added Jimmy McLarnin's welterweight crown to his own lightweight championship and ended the domination the Vancouver Irishman has held over Jewish ringmen for the past half dozen years.



Ross

He carved his new record into the books in the boldest, most daring manner, the way no one said it could be done, by out-slugging McLarnin, the dynamiter, through 15 savage rounds to win the decision of Referee Ed Forbes after two judges had failed to agree on the winner.

A crowd estimated at 65,000, paid $225,000 to see the match.

In the minds of that huge throng there was little reason for the indecision of the judges. Most of the experts agreed with them.

McLarnin

From the second through the eighth round, the dynamic little Ross tore into the bigger, heavier McLarnin and punched with him, welcoming every exchange as few men over the Irishman's twelve year career ever had dared to do.

He started blood seeping from Jimmy's nose in the fourth round with left hooks that crackled into the champion's head with the snap of a black snake whip.

Neither took a count in the round that turned the tide momentarily for the Irishman who in his thumping prime smashed out Kid Kaplan, Sid Terris, Al Singer, Joey Sangor, Ruby Goldstein, and even the great Benny Leonard himself before colliding this night with a different type of Jewish fighter a boy with a jaw of steel and the courage of a crusader.

And the little daredevil from Chicago needed all his bravery from the end of the ninth, which McLarnin had earned clearly before the knockdown, through the thirteenth, where he got command of the situation again.

In those five rounds, counting the ninth as well as the thirteenth, which was taken from McLarnin by Referee Ed Forbes because of a low blow, Jimmy was the cherub from hell he has been so aptly called.

Can't Keep Pace

Blood dripped from Barney's lips as early as the fourth round, but it was the only visible damage, aside from red blotches on the side, that McLarnin could inflict even at the height of the storm. And in the fourteenth it was Jimmy, the devastating Irishman, who could keep the pace no longer.

"Keep fighting, Jimmy. Keep fighting."

It was like trying to call a wind out of the dead air of a calm at sea. Jimmy staggered on to the end, his punch gone, his strength exhausted. He was so heart broken at the decision that he hurried from the ring, tears streaming down his face, and away before anyone could reach him.

EBEL, HELLWICK OTHER WINNERS

Borchert Kayos Betts in First Round; Haindl Is Victor

In the feature bout on the all star amateur boxing program here last night, Joe Anderson, Gladstone ring favorite, won an unpopular decision over Joe LaFleur, Escanaba scrapper, at the exhibition building, state fairgrounds. The announcement of the decision was greeted with a chorus of lusty boos from the large crowd of fans, although Anderson's supporters countered with a round of cheers and hand clapping.

The LaFleur-Joe Anderson scrap was tame the first round but the Gladstone battler concededly held a narrow edge. The battlers got down to business in the second round, however, and before the round was over the boys were clouting each other lustily. The third round was a torrid one and brought the fans into a frenzy. Anderson missed terrific punches aimed at LaFleur's head repeately during this stanza and the Esky boy scored with telling counter blows, right swings which caught Anderson flush on the head and face four times in rapid succession. Anderson recovered sufficiently, however, to land a few hard smashes to LaFleur's head just before the gong ended.

Ebel Beats Roy

Willmer Van, Green Bay division Golden Gloves champion for the past two years, easily defeated Omar Crocker, hard punching little fellow from Iron Mountain. Van, showing fine ring technique, had the advantage throughout and won in a breeze. Crocker apparently was aiming for an opportunity to score his much heralded knockout punch but the chance never came.

Luke Ebel, well tanned and in superb condition, gave Roy Anderson, Gladstone bulldog, a nasty pasting in a bout which was for four two minute rounds instead of the conventional three three-minute rounds. Ebel piled up a wide margin in the second and third rounds and had the tough Upbay youngster groggy just before the third frame ended. The fourth round, however, was comparatively tame, Anderson making a fine recovery and Ebel apparently content to coast to victory.

Bert Hellwick, 16-year old Manitowoc boy, evened his score with Mike Carl, winning a popular decision from the boy who has been booked from Melrose Park, Stephenson and more lately from Cedar River. Hellwick won all three rounds, although by narrow margins. The boys fought here previously, Carl getting the nod due to his aggressiveness after the judges returned a point score of 45-all.

Borchert Lands Kayo

Billy Borchert of Appleton proved himself a fitting substitute for Milt Kell of Wilson by scoring the only knockout of the show. Borchert put Woody Betts, pride of Marquette, away for the ten count in two minutes of the first round.

Betts breezed out of his corner full of energy and confident. He ran plump into Borchert's left and then took two more hard lefts to the face. Betts shook off the blows, still eager for battle. Betts missed a right smash and Borchert countered with a right smash of his own, a terrific wallop which Betts caught flush on the jaw. Betts dropped down the canvas, badly hurt, but he bounced up at the count of four and started weaving in again. The Appleton boy cleverly maneuvered his foe over to Borchert's corner and then he sunk a short left into Betts' ribs. The Marquette boy fell to the mat and writhed on the floor while Referee Sundling tolled him out.

Johnny Haindl of Cooks won his second start out of the novice class but his decision over Mike Kenjala of Iron Mountain was decidedly unpopular. Kenjala was the aggressor throughout the match and seemed to have the decision well in the bag. Haindl, backing up most of the way, landed few telling blows and the decision was a surprise to the fans, even to Haindl's enthusiastic supporters.

CARDINALS LAND IN FIRST PLACE

Bill Hallahan Gets 10-0 Shutout Victory Over Phillies

Philadelphia, May 28 (AP)—Behind the shut out pitching of Bill Hallahan, the St. Louis Cardinals pounded out a 10 to 0 victory over the Phillies today in the final game of the series.

The Red Birds started to hit Curt Davis in the second inning by scoring once and kept up the bombardment until they drove him from the mound in the fifth. Pearce, his successor, fared no better. The victory put the Cards in first place in the National league.

LEADERS GIVEN TWIN BEATING

Giants Take Two From Pirates, 3 to 2 and 1 to 0

New York, May 28 (AP)—With Travis Jackson's home runs deciding the issue in both games, the New York Giants knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of first place in the National League standings today as they swept a doubleheader. The world champions won the first game 3 to 2 in 11 innings and the nightcap 1 to 0.

Both games were exhibitions of fine pitching. In the first Hal Schumacher and Adolfo Luque outpointed Larry French. In the second Carl Hubbell shaded Ralph Birkofer for his second shutout and seventh victory of the season. The triumph sent the Giants into third place, above the Cubs, while the Cardinals took the lead.

ON BAT SPREE, TIGES WIN, 12-6

Lefty Grove Knocked Out of Box During Rally in Sixth

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—The Tigers went on a batting spree today, Hank Greenberg driving in four runs with two homers, and defeated Boston 12 to 6. Lefty Grove was knocked out of the box during a four-run Tiger rally in the sixth, having allowed 12 hits.

Vic Frasier was on the mound for the Tigers and Ray Hayworth, instead of Manager Mickey Cochrane, behind the plate.

Cissell singled for the Red Sox in the first, but died in a double play. The Tigers went out in order.

Porter singled in the Boston second, but was forced for the third out. Gehringer doubled in the Tiger half, advanced on Rogell's sacrifice bunt and scored on Hayworth's fly.

The Red Sox got that run back in the third on a pass to Lary and singles by Cissell and Werber. Owen doubled to open the Tiger half, but couldn't advance.

Greenberg Boots Homer

Ferrell singled with two out in the Boston fourth but Lary fanned for the third out. The Tigers recaptured the lead with a vengeance in their half when Rogell doubled, Hayworth singled and Greenberg boosted the ball over the left field screen for a homer. Owen became the third casualty trying to stretch a single into a double.

The Red Sox put on a four-run rally to regain the lead in the fifth, Marberry replacing Frasier after Grove, Cissell and Werber, first three men up, had walked. Morgan singled, scoring Grove and Cissell. Johnson hit into a double play, Werber scoring. Reynolds doubled and Porter singled, Reynolds scoring. Ferrell grounded for the third out. Marberry singled for the Tigers, but there was no scoring.

Boston added another run in the sixth when Lary singled, advanced on a wild pitch and Grove's sacrifice and scored on Cissell's single.

The Tigers knocked Grove from the box in their half of the sixth with a four-run assault featured by Greenberg's second homer of the game. With two out, Hayworth doubler and Greenberg lifted the ball over the scoreboard. Owen singled, Marberry walked and Fox singled, scoring Owen. Goslin also singled, scoring Marberry. Henry Johnson replaced Grove and induced Walker to fly out.

There was no scoring in the seventh and Boston went out in order in the eighth. The Tigers, however, got four more runs, all with two out in their half of the eighth. Marberry, Fox and Goslin singled, Marberry scoring. Walker was safe on Lary's low throw to first, Fox scoring. Gehringer beat out an infield hit, Goslin and Walker scoring.

Cissell and Morgan singled in the Boston ninth but neither could score.

RELAY ENTRIES ARE RECEIVED

From 12-15 Schools Are Expected; Metcalfe Can't Come

From 12 to 15 schools, about the same as last year, are expected to enter the seventh annual Upper Peninsula Relays here next Saturday, Principal John Lemmer of the Escanaba high school announced yesterday.

What outstanding star, if any, will offer the exhibition feature this year which has been a headliner of every Relays program in the past is a problem that still confronts Relays officials. Willis Ward, all around star of Michigan, was long considered for the spot but the Wolverine negro injured his leg recently and announced that he would be unable to participate in the Relays.

Then the Relays officials turned to Ralph Metcalfe, the world's fastest human of Marquette university, a colored boy who performed at the Relays two years ago and requested him to give a repeat performance here this year. After it was learned Ward would not be able to come to the Relays, upper peninsula athletes requested that Metcalfe be urged to reappear here. Metcalfe, however, also has injured his leg and reported it was not possible for him to come to Escanaba next Saturday.

A new special event appears on the program this year. It is the Relays century, a special 100 yard dash open to all schools. The trophy for the event is donated by the Escanaba Daily Press to be given to the school winning the race. The individuals will get gold medals for first place, silver for second and bronze for third in all special events. In the relay events, the four boys on the winning teams will get gold medals each.

The schools entered in the Relays to date are: Class B, Ironwood, Kingsford, Marquette, Escanaba; Class C, St. Joseph, Lake Linden; Class D, Bark River township. Entries from other schools are expected during the week.

Escanaba To Enter State Tennis Meet

Escanaba high school will be represented at the Michigan tennis tournament, which will be held at Ann Arbor next Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Principal John A. Lemmer.

JUMBO ELLIOTT NIPS CUBS, 5-3

Burly Boston Southpaw Lasts 7 Innings In Rubber Clash

Boston, May 28, (AP)—Jim "Jumbo" Elliott made his first pitching start for the Braves today and worked well enough to get credit for the 5-3 decision the Tribesmen gained in their rubber clash with the Chicago Cubs.

Fred Frankhouse was scheduled to work but he reported slightly indisposed and Manager Bill McKechnie was forced to call upon the burly left-hander, who lasted until the seventh inning when Marty McManus helped the Cubs make their three-run rally by booting two grounders. Bob Smith relieved Elliott and checked the Chicago surge in abrupt fashion.

Reds Even Series With Dodgers by Winning 8 to 1

Brooklyn, May 28 (AP)—Behind the steady pitching of Benny Frey, the Cincinnati Reds earned an even break in the two game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers, winning today's contest 8 to 1.

Frey kept the Dodgers nine hits well scattered and did not allow a run after the first inning. The Reds, however, effectively used 16 safe blows off Art Herring. Jim Bottomley led the Cincinnati attack with three singles but Wes Schulmerich hit the longest wallop of the game, a home run into the left field stands in the sixth inning.

SOUTH SIDERS BEAT GARDEN

Escanaba Team Wins in 14-Inning Battle, 11 to 8

Garden, May 28 (AP)—The Escanaba South Siders won a 14 inning ball game from Garden here yesterday, 11 to 8. It was the South Siders' second victory in as many starts. Next week they will open their home season with the always powerful Perkins club as opposition.

The South Siders led 6 to 3 in the ninth inning but walks and errors enabled Garden to tie it up at 6-all. Each team made two runs in the 11th and then in the 14th frame the South Siders came through with three runs and Oseen, South Side hurler, ended the long drawn out battle by whiffing the three men who faced him in the last of the 14th. The fracas lasted five hours.

Fred LaFleur hurled 5-23 innings for the South Siders. He struck out five and gave up four hits. Oseen twirled 8 1-3 innings, fanned 11 and yielded six hits. The South Siders got 14 hits off Dotsch and Trucky.

JUDGES SPLIT OVER DECISION

Winner First To Claim Two Championships; 65,000 Attend

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Madison Square Garden Bowl, New York, May 28 (AP)—A little black-haired whirlwind from Chicago, glittery-eyed Barney Ross, wrote a brand new chaper in ringdom's fantastic history tonight as he added Jimmy McLarnin's welterweight crown to his own lightweight championship and ended the domination the Vancouver Irishman has held over Jewish ringmen for the past half dozen years.

Ross

He carved his new record into the books in the boldest, most daring manner, the way no one said it could be done, by out-slugging McLarnin, the dynamiter, through 15 savage rounds to win the decision of Referee Ed Forbes after two judges had failed to agree on the winner.

In the minds of that huge throng there was little reason for the indecision of the judges. Most of the experts agreed with them.

McLarnin

From the second through the eighth round, the dynamic little Ross tore into the bigger, heavier McLarnin and punched with him, welcoming every exchange as few men over the Irishman's twelve year career ever had dared to do.

Neither took a count in the round that turned the tide momentarily for the Irishman who in his thumping prime smashed out Kid Kaplan, Sid Terris, Al Singer, Joey Sangor, Ruby Goldstein, and even the great Benny Leonard himself before colliding this night with a different type of Jewish fighter—a boy with a jaw of steel and the courage of a crusader.

And the little daredevil from Chicago needed all his bravery from the end of the ninth, which McLarnin had earned clearly before the knockdown, through the thirteenth, where he got command of the situation again.

In those five rounds, counting the ninth as well as the thirteenth, which was taken from McLarnin by Referee Ed Forbes because of a low blow, Jimmy was the cherub from hell he has been so aptly called.

Can't Keep Pace

Blood dripped from Barney's lips as early as the fourth round, but it was the only visible damage, aside from red blotches on the side, that McLarnin could inflict even at the height of the storm. And in the fourteenth it was Jimmy, the devastating Irishman, who could keep the pace no longer.

"Keep fighting, Jimmy. Keep fighting."

It was like trying to call a wind out of the dead air of a calm at sea. Jimmy staggered on to the end, his punch gone, his strength exhausted. He was so heart broken at the decision that he hurried from the ring, tears streaming down his face, and away before anyone could reach him.

EBEL, HELLWICK OTHER WINNERS

Borchert Kayos Betts in First Round; Haindl Is Victor

In the feature bout on the all star amateur boxing program here last night, Joe Anderson, Gladstone ring favorite, won an unpopular decision over Joe LaFleur, Escanaba scrapper, at the exhibition building, state fairgrounds. The announcement of the decision was greeted with a chorus of lusty booes from the large crowd of fans, although Anderson's supporters countered with a round of cheers and hand clapping.

The LaFleur-Joe Anderson scrap was tame the first round but the Gladstone battler concededly held a narrow edge. The battlers got down to business in the second round, however, and before the round was over the boys were clouting each other lustily. The third round was a torrid one and brought the fans into a frenzy. Anderson missed terrific punches aimed at LaFleur's head repeately during this stanza and the Esky boy scored with telling counter blows, right swings which caught Anderson flush on the head and face four times in rapid succession. Anderson recovered sufficiently, however, to land a few hard smashes to LaFleur's head just before the gong ended.

Ebel Beats Roy

Willmer Van, Green Bay division Golden Gloves champion for the past two years, easily defeated Omar Crocker, hard punching little fellow from Iron Mountain. Van, showing fine ring technique, had the advantage throughout and won in a breeze. Crocker apparently was aiming for an opportunity to score his much heralded knockout punch but the chance never came.

Luke Ebel, well tanned and in superb condition, gave Roy Anderson, Gladstone bulldog, a nasty pasting in a bout which was for four two minute rounds instead of the conventional three three-minute rounds. Ebel piled up a wide margin in the second and third rounds and had the tough Upbay youngster groggy just before the third frame ended. The fourth round, however, was comparatively tame, Anderson making a fine recovery and Ebel apparently content to coast to victory.

Bert Hellwick, 16-year old Manitowoc boy, evened his score with Mike Carl, winning a popular decision from the boy who has been booked from Melrose Park, Stephenson and more lately from Cedar River. Hellwick won all three rounds, although by narrow margins. The boys fought here previously, Carl getting the nod due to his aggressiveness after the judges returned a point score of 45-all.

Borchert Lands Kayo

Billy Borchert of Appleton proved himself a fitting substitute for Milt Kell of Wilson by scoring the only knockout of the show. Borchert put Woody Betts, pride of Marquette, away for the ten count in two minutes of the first round.

Betts breezed out of his corner full of energy and confident. He ran plump into Borchert's left and then took two more hard lefts to the face. Betts shook off the blows, still eager for battle. Betts missed a right smash and Borchert countered with a right smash of his own, a terrific wallop which Betts caught flush on the jaw. Betts dropped down the canvas, badly hurt, but he bounced up at the count of four and started weaving in again. The Appleton boy cleverly maneuvered his foe over to Borchert's corner and then he sunk a short left into Betts' ribs. The Marquette boy fell to the mat and writhed on the floor while Referee Sundling tolled him out.

Johnny Haindl of Cooks won his second start out of the novice class but his decision over Mike Kenjala of Iron Mountain was decidedly unpopular. Kenjala was the aggressor throughout the match and seemed to have the decision well in the bag. Haindl, backing up most of the way, landed few telling blows and the decision was a surprise to the fans, even to Haindl's enthusiastic supporters.

New York, May 28 (AP)—With Travis Jackson's home runs deciding the issue in both games, the New York Giants knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of first place in the National League standings today as they swept a doubleheader. The world champions won the first game 3 to 2 in 11 innings and the nightcap 1 to 0.

Both games were exhibitions of fine pitching. In the first Hal Schumacher and Adolfo Luque outpointed Larry French. In the second Carl Hubbell shaded Ralph Borkofer for his second shutout and seventh victory of the season. The triumph sent the Giants into third place, above the Cubs, while the Cardinals took the lead.

ON BAT SPREE, TIGES WIN, 12-6

Lefty Grove Knocked Out of Box During Rally in Sixth

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—The Tigers went on a batting spree today, Hank Greenberg driving in four runs with two homers, and defeated Boston 12 to 6. Lefty Grove was knocked out of the box during a four-run Tiger rally in the sixth, having allowed 12 hits.

Vic Frasier was on the mound for the Tigers and Ray Hayworth, instead of Manager Mickey Cochrane, behind the plate.

Cissell singled for the Red Sox in the first, but died in a double play. The Tigers went out in order.

Porter singled in the Boston second, but was forced for the third out. Gehringer doubled in the Tiger half, advanced on Rogell's sacrifice bunt and scored on Hayworth's fly.

The Red Sox got that run back in the third on a pass to Lary and singles by Cissell and Werber. Owen doubled to open the Tiger half, but couldn't advance.

Greenberg Boots Homer

Ferrell singled with two out in the Boston fourth but Lary fanned for the third out. The Tigers recaptured the lead with a vengeance in their half when Rogell doubled. Hayworth singled and Greenberg boosted the ball over the left field screen for a homer. Owen became the third casualty trying to stretch a single into a double.

The Rod Sox put on a four-run rally to regain the lead in the fifth, Marberry replacing Frasier after Grove, Cissell and Werber, first three men up, had walked. Morgan singled, scoring Grove and Cissell. Johnson hit into a double play, Werber scoring. Reynolds doubled and Porter singled, Reynolds scoring. Ferrell grounded for the third out. Marberry singled for the Tigers, but there was no scoring.

Boston added another run in the sixth when Lary singled, advanced on a wild pitch and Grove's sacrifice and scored on Cissell's single.

The Tigers knocked Grove from the box in their half of the sixth with a four-run assault featured by Greenberg's second homer of the game. With two out, Hayworth doubler and Greenberg lifted the ball over the scoreboard. Owen singled, Marberry walked and Fox singled, scoring Owen. Gosiln also singled, scoring Marberry. Henry Johnson replaced Grove and induced Walker to fly out.

There was no scoring in the seventh and Boston went out in order in the eighth. The Tigers, however, got four more runs, all with two out in their half of the eighth. Marberry, Fox and Goslin singled, Marberry scoring. Walker was safe on Lary's low throw to first, Fox scoring. Gehringer beat out an infield hit, Goslin and Walker scoring.

Cissell and Morgan singled in the Boston ninth but neither could score.

RELAY ENTRIES ARE RECEIVED

From 12-15 Schools Are Expected; Metcalfe Can't Come

From 12 to 15 schools, about the same as last year, are expected to enter the seventh annual Upper Peninsula Relays here next Saturday, Principal John Lemmer of the Escanaba high school announced yesterday.

What outstanding star, if any, will offer the exhibition feature this year which has been a headliner of every Relays program in the past is a problem that still confronts Relays officials. Willis Ward, all around star of Michigan, was long considered for the spot but the Wolverine negro injured his leg recently and announced that he would be unable to participate in the Relays.

Then the Relays officials turned to Ralph Metcalfe, the world's fastest human of Marquette university, a colored boy who performed at the Relays two years ago and requested him to give a repeat performance here this year. After it was learned Ward would not be able to come to the Relays, upper peninsula athletes requested that Metcalfe be urged to reappear here. Metcalfe, however, also has injured his leg and reported it was not possible for him to come to Escanaba next Saturday.

Regardless of the lack of an outstanding performer to give an exhibition at the Relays, the classic event in itself should prove highly interesting and entertaining.

A new special event appears on the program this year. It is the Relays century, a special 100 yard dash open to all schools. The trophy for the event is donated by the Escanaba Daily Press to be given to the school winning the race. The individuals will get gold medals for first place, silver for second and bronze for third in all special events. In the relay events, the four boys on the winning teams will get gold medals each.

The schools entered in the Relays to date are: Class B, Ironwood, Kingsford, Marquette, Escanaba; Class C, St. Joseph, Lake Linden; Class D, Bark River township. Entries from other schools are expected during the week.

Escanaba To Enter State Tennis Meet

Escanaba high school will be represented at the Michigan tennis tournament, which will be held at Ann Arbor next Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Principal John A. Lemmer.

Chester Olson, upper peninsula high school singles champion, and Harry Henkin, No. 2 player of Escanaba high school, will leave Thursday to compete in the Ann Arbor tournament.

JUMBO ELLIOTT NIPS CUBS, 5-3

Burly Boston Southpaw Lasts 7 Innings In Rubber Clash

Boston, May 28. (AP)—Jim "Jumbo" Elliott made his first pitching start for the Braves today and worked well enough to get credit for the 5-3 decision the Tribesmen gained in their rubber clash with the Chicago Cubs.

Fred Frankhouse was scheduled to work but he reported slightly indisposed and Manager Bill McKechnie was forced to call upon the burly left-hander, who lasted until the seventh inning when Marty McManus helped the Cubs make their three-run rally by booting two grounders. Bob Smith relieved Elliott and checked the Chicago surge in abrupt fashion.

Reds Even Series With Dodgers by Winning 8 to 1

Brooklyn, May 28 (AP)—Behind the steady pitching of Benny Frey, the Cincinnati Reds earned an even break in the two-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers, winning today's contest 8 to 1.

Frey kept the Dodgers nine hits well scattered and did not allow a run after the first inning. The Reds, however, effectively used 16 safe blows off Art Herring. Jim Bottomley led the Cincinnati attack with three singles but Wes Schulmerich hit the longest wallop of the game, a home run into the left field stands in the sixth inning.

Escanaba Team Wins in 14-Inning Battle, 11 to 8

Garden, May 28 (AP)—The Escanaba South Siders won a 14 inning ball game from Garden here yesterday, 11 to 8. It was the South Siders' second victory in as many starts. Next week they will open their home season with the always powerful Perkins club as opposition.

The South Siders led 6 to 3 in the ninth inning but walks and errors enabled Garden to tie it up at 6-all. Each team made two runs in the 11th and then in the 14th frame the South Siders came through with three runs and Oseen, South Side hurler, ended the long drawn out battle by whiffing the three men who faced him in the last of the 14th. The fracas lasted five hours.

Fred LaFleur hurled 5-23 innings for the South Siders. He struck out five and gave up four hits. Oseen twirled 8 1-3 innings, fanned 11 and yielded six hits. The South Siders got 14 hits off Dotsch and Trucky.

ROTES TO MEET HERE NEXT MAY

Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Convention Awarded to Escanaba

Escanaba will entertain the Rotarians of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district at their annual convention to be held in May of next year.

The convention will bring about six hundred Rotary club members to the city. This year's meeting was held at Appleton, Wis.

Ten per cent of the children born each year are attacked by diphtheria before they reach the age of 15.

Jack Foster Wins Honors At Kalamazoo

Jack Foster, a former student of Escanaba high school, and whose home is now in Manistique, was elected to Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity; was chosen as the student editor of the Teachers College Herald for next year, and was named president of Theta Chi Delta, social fraternity at Western State Teachers college.

These new honors come as a climax of three years of active work at Western State for Jack, who is now finishing his junior year at the Kalamazoo school. He has served two years on the Herald staff, being sports editor this year; he has served as publicity manager of the Student Council, Western's student government organization; he has been an officer of two prominent other campus organizations, and he has been a member of the varsity debate team for two seasons.

The Tau Kappa Alpha selection is on the basis of outstanding work in the field of debating, and it is an honor that only a few gain each year. The chapter at Western State is one of seventy, scattered in colleges and universities from coast to coast. Foster was on Western's Class A affirmative team last winter that went through five straight debates in the midwest tournament at North Manchester, Ind., without a defeat, establishing a claim to the championship.

"TARZAN AND HIS MATE"

The most ambitious attempt ever made by a motion picture studio to bring an adventure story to the screen has just been completed with the filming of "Tarzan and His Mate," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer thrill picture featuring Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan to be shown today, Wednesday and Thursday at the Delft Theatre.

Efforts to surpass all previous jungle pictures made necessary the creation of a hundred acre area packed densely with trees and undergrowth into which African animals of all kinds were released.

The new story continues the adventures of Tarzan, played by Weissmuller, when a safari of white men attempt to raid the "elephants' burial ground" of millions of dollars worth of ivory. Tarzan's attempts to protect the sacred jungle hoard get him into breath-taking hazards that far surpass the thrills of "Tarzan, the Ape Man."

Hartwig Named Registrar at International Law Conference

Lawrence E. Hartwig of Escanaba will again serve as registrar of the third summer session of the Conference of International Law of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which will be held in Ann Arbor from June 27 to July 31. The sessions will be offered in cooperation with the University of Michigan.

Mr. Hartwig will be graduated from the University of Michigan law school in June.

These summer courses are designed to provide an opportunity for professors who devote only a part of their time to teaching international law, along with other subjects, to participate in a period of intensive work in international law during their summer vacation, according to Dr. James Brown Scott, director.

The courses and seminars, which will be given in the mornings, will cover the classics, modern sources and codification of international law, treaties, territorial waters, neutrality, and international law and the constitution. Except for occasional public lectures, the afternoons and evenings will be free for study, research and recreation.

Professors Jesse S. Reeves of the University of Michigan, George Grafton Wilson of Harvard and Charles Cheney Hyde of Columbia university, Dr. Scott and George A. ## Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Convention Awarded to Escanaba

Jack Foster Wins Honors At Kalamazoo

Jack Foster, a former student of Escanaba high school, and whose home is now in Manistique, was elected to Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity; was chosen as the student editor of the Teachers College Herald for next year, and was named president of Theta Chi Delta, social fraternity at Western State Teachers college.

These new honors come as a climax of three years of active work at Western State for Jack, who is now finishing his junior year at the Kalamazoo school. He has served two years on the Herald staff, being sports editor this year; he has served as publicity manager of the Student Council, Western's student government organization; he has been an officer of two prominent other campus organizations, and he has been a member of the varsity debate team for two seasons.

The Tau Kappa Alpha selection is on the basis of outstanding work in the field of debating, and it is an honor that only a few gain each year. The chapter at Western State is one of seventy, scattered in colleges and universities from coast to coast. Foster was on Western's Class A affirmative team last winter that went through five straight debates in the midwest tournament at North Manchester, Ind., without a defeat, establishing a claim to the championship.

"TARZAN AND HIS MATE"

The most ambitious attempt ever made by a motion picture studio to bring an adventure story to the screen has just been completed with the filming of "Tarzan and His Mate," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer thrill picture featuring Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan to be shown today, Wednesday and Thursday at the Delft Theatre.

Efforts to surpass all previous jungle pictures made necessary the creation of a hundred acre area packed densely with trees and undergrowth into which African animals of all kinds were released.

Two of the biggest climaxes of the picture show a herd of maddened elephants charging a safari of natives and white men and later an attack of dozens of lions upon a camp.

The new story continues the adventures of Tarzan, played by Weissmuller, when a safari of white men attempt to raid the "elephants' burial ground" of millions of dollars worth of ivory. Tarzan's attempts to protect the sacred jungle hoard get him into breath-taking hazards that far surpass the thrills of "Tarzan, the Ape Man."

STRIKE PEACE IN DEADLOCK; TOLEDO WAITS

SAN FRANCISCO HAS NEW OUTBREAK OF FIERCE RIOTS

(By The Associated Press)

Here is Monday's strike situation at a glance:

Toledo, O.—The withdrawal of troops at an early date was declared likely by Governor George White, as peace negotiations between strikers and the Electric Auto-Lite company officials continued in deadlock, bringing a truce after six days of rioting.

Laurinburg, N. C.—The fourth and last unit of Waverly Mills, Inc., was closed by strikes, following a riot Sunday night in which eight men were wounded, one possibly fatally.

San Francisco.—Tear bombs were thrown when violence broke out anew on the waterfront here and in San Diego, sending eight men to the hospital, as shippers and striking longshoremen were reported deadlocked in strike negotiations. Between 1,000 and 2,000 took part in the disorders.

Pekin, Ill.—An appeal for national guardsmen was sent to Governor Henry Horner as 1,500 persons gathered at the gates of the American Commercial Alcohol corporation's distillery and kept all but office employes from entering. The action was in protest against the dismissal of many employes.

St. Louis, Mo.—The return to work of half of the employes of packing houses ended a two weeks' strike. The other half was to return within ten days. A minimum work week of 32 hours was provided in the teams of a union contract drawn up by the regional labor board.

Cleveland.—Rioting broke out in Playhouse Square, in the center of downtown Cleveland, when an attempt was made to operate cabs of the Yellow Cab company over the protests of strikers and strike sympathizers. A woman was hit by a large bolt hurled by a strike sympathizer. At the same time, tugmen and tug operators met to seek a basis for a permanent agreement. The men recently ended a strike under a temporary arrangement.

Washington—In an effort to avert a threatened steel strike, Chairman Wagner of the national labor board telegraphed M. F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers to come to Washington for a conference.

Galveston, Tex.—The compress strike, halting movement of cotton from presses to docks for several weeks, was settled.

CONCERNS BLAMED

Toledo, O., May 28. (AP)—Negotiations for ending Toledo's violent automotive strike broke down tonight after 24 hours of optimistic conferences, and Charles P. Taft, chief federal mediator, blamed the impasse on the three man-

Sacramento Police Have Torch Murder

Sacraamento, Calif., May 28 (AP)—A possible "torch murder" confronted Sacramento police tonight with the finding of a young woman's body soaked with gasoline and set afire in a garage in the rear of an aparement house.

There were no marks of identification among the fragments of her clothing. Police at first believed it to be a case of suicide but later said there was considable evidence that the woman had been burned to death.

A gallon jug, which had contained gasoline, was found beside the body together with several matches, some of which had been struck.

OKLAHOMA BAD FOR KIDNAPERS

Five Held for Stealing 3 Cars and Abducting Six Persons

Pawhuska, Okla., May 28 (AP)—Oklahoma peace officers put a sudden stop to a wave of lawlessness today by arresting five suspects, three of them escaped Sherman, Texas, prisoners.

The five had kidnaped six persons and stolen three automobiles within 24 hours.

At Pawhuska police seized three men who identified themselves as George E. Droddy, 19 years old of Pineville, Mo.; Odrian Petty, 16 years old, of Kilgore, Texas; Roy Batts, 21 years old, of Sherman, Texas, who fled from the Sherman jail Sunday after slugging a guard.

James Dixon of Indianapolis, and Howard Johnson of Denver, arrested at Sayre, were accused of stealing an automobile from B. C. Butler, Tommy Dyron and Glenn Williams, of Elk City, kidnaping these three and a hitch-hiker, O. J. Hannington, of Spokane, Wash., but releasing them soon after. The victims identified the kidnapers and recovered their automobile.

The escaped Texas prisoners were trapped in downtown Pawhuska. Apparently they were heading for the Osage hills, long a hideout for criminals.

Early today the three men kidnaped Robert Jones of Dallas on the highway between Ardmore and Turner Falls. They took his automobile and released him unharmed two miles north of Guthrie, when a bearing burned in his car.

The fugitives then stopped an approaching automobile and forced Phillip Oigner, Perry farmer, to accompany them. Jones reported the incident to Logan county authorities who broadcast a statewide warning.

Detroit Postoffice Vault Is Wrecked

Detroit, (AP)—The interior of the branch post office in suburban Lincoln park was wrecked early Monday by a heavy charge of nitroglycerine set off by burglars to open a safe. Officials said the loss was about $700, of which $500 was in stamps. Three men seen running from the building fled in a car, which police said was stolen.

GLOOM RULES IN ARMAMENT TALK OPENING

EUROPEAN NATIONS FEAR COLLAPSE OF MOVEMENT

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Geneva, May 28 (AP)—A gloomy atmosphere prevailed today as delegates to the disarmament conference made plans to open their discussions tomorrow.

The impression was general, after a rather perfunctory meeting of the steering committee, that European nations were sparring for position, each determined not to be held responsible for a collapse of the conference.

Await U. S. Proposal

Hope that Norman Davis, United States representative, or Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, may have a proposal which would prevent a complete failure was expressed in some quarters.

Davis was expected to recommend stricter supervision of traffic in arms and munitions be undertaken. Litvinoff is looked to for a plan of mutual assistance pacts.

Arthur Henderson, chairman of the conference, warned the steering committee that "the gravity of the situation commands more than ever the unflagging determination to secure a convention."

Arrangements had been made for a world-wide broadcast of tomorrow's proceedings. But subsequently the broadcast was called off, some delegates insisting the addresses would be fragmentary and give a false idea.

Situation Grave

The chairman said the French memorandum of April 17, stating that France would be unable to accept reduction of armaments if Germany rearms, showed the futility of proceeding with governmental negotiations.

Comment among delegates and observers centered on the steadily increasing armaments of the world since the conference began.

Reports that Russia would oppose any moves which would bring Germany back into the conference persisted. Litvinoff only smiled and evaded questions on this and other subjects.

Asked about the report that the Soviet Union will seek league membership, he replied: "The newspapers say so."

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, emphasized privately Britain's contention she has done all that can be expected in the way of armament reduction and is not inclined to lead the way any longer.

A conference of British and American representatives during the morning ended with expressions that the situation is grave and collapse is certain unless some

Quintuplets, All Girls, Born to Ontario Pair

Corbeil, Ont., May 28 (AP)—Five baby girls, the largest weighing three pounds and four ounces and the smallest a pound less, were born today to Mrs. Oliva Dionne in her farm home two miles from here.

Visitors found the 24-year-old mother and the babies in good condition and the father, seven years older than his wife, busy at his chores.

There are five other children in the family, the oldest, Ernest, being seven. One other child of the couple, who were married in September, 1925, died.

"Oh, pretty good," said Mrs. Dionne after her French nurse interpreted to her inquiries as to how she was feeling.

"Well, do you feel proud of yourself?" the father was asked.

"I'm the kind of fellow they should put in jail," he answered.

A potato scale was produced and each of the loudly howling infants was placed on it.

The little girl identified as the oldest of the five weighed three pounds and four ounces and the two youngest registered two pounds and four ounces each. The total weight of all five was 13 pounds and six ounces.

The father was torn between pleasure at the unexpectedly large addition to his family and the thought of the financial burden.

He said he is going to do the best he can, but stressed the fact he is not exactly built for hard work, being five feet and eight inches tall and weighing only 130 pounds. His wife is slightly

Havana Terrorists Attack Americans

BY EDMUND A. CHESTER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Havana, May 28 (AP)—Anti-American terrorists today followed up their attack on the residence of Ambassador Jefferson Caffery by waylaying the automobile of the first secretary of the embassy and breaking the windshield.

The first secretary, H. Freeman Matthews, was not in the car at the time. One of the four gunmen who forced the chauffeur to the curb remarked as he struck the windshield with his pistol: "This is for Matthews."

After the attack, Ambassador Caffery revealed that the shooting at his residence last night, resulting in the serious injury of a soldier guard, was the second such attempt, the house having been fired upon three weeks ago.

We want to tell you to get out of Havana within two weeks," Matthews' chauffeur, Charles Taylor of Washington, D. C., quoted one of the gunmen as saying. "This is your last trip to town. Don't drive Matthews' car any more."

The gunmen's threats intensified the police precautions against anti-American elements in Havana, who were described Saturday by police officials as plotting to kill the ambassador and destroy property of citizens of the United States.

After the shooting last night, a special session of the Cuban cabinet was called, and it was understood that acts of terrorism against Americans were discussed at length.

Bombings and Terrorism Continued Despite Death Decree

BY WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Vienna, May 28. (AP)—Opposition elements in Austria—Nazis, Socialists and Communists—qualified for the hangman's noose by the score today by setting off bombs and engaging in other depredations in defiance of the new edicts of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In the home town of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, Branau on the Austro-German border, the municipal electric plant was put out of commission and the waterworks crippled by bombs. Troops were placed in control of the city.

The bombs and other terrorist acts apparently presented the answer of the oppositionists to the new decree making such acts punishable by death after trial by court martial.

A school house and the home of a professor in Linz, upper Austria, were the targets of explosives.

Goodrich Steamers Sold At Manitowoc

Manitowoc, Wis., May 28 (AP)—Three steamships of the fleet of the bankrupt Goodrich Transit company today were sold by a U. S. marshal at public auction here to A. M. Hewitt, Chicago attorney representing the bondholders, for $35,000. The ships—the Alabama, one-time flagship of the fleet, the Christopher Columbus, whaleback excursion steamer, and the Carolina—were sold to satisfy a mortgage of $179,800 held by the First National Bank of

Welfare Relief Rolls Reduced; Expenses Lower

Lansing, Mich., May 28 (AP)—The state emergency welfare relief commission today announced a reduction of 7,046 families on relief rolls within the last month.

The announcement said that May relief roll total amounted to 139,138 families compared with a peak load for the year to 146,184 in April. William Haber, state relief administrator, said he expected the number will drop to 133,00 in June.

Haber expressed a belief that the June relief bill will not exceed $3,600,000 compared with $4,000,000 in May.

The commission reported continued increases in the number of persons employed at wages. More than 51,000 persons were employed on work projects for the third week in May with the weekly wage payroll exceeding $600,000.

Republic, Mich., May 29 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ahtonen, living on a farm south of here, escaped without injuries tonight when their car burned up, while returning from Iron Mountain. ## HALF BILLION DUE ON DEBTS THIS JUNE 15

THIRTEEN NATIONS ARE NOTIFIED TO PAY UP

Washington, May 28 (AP)—The United States has notified thirteen European debtor nations that they are in debt to the United States treasury to the tune of almost half a billion dollars and asked that they pay up on June 15.

Statements of accounts due were dispatched to ten embassies and legations today, completing the list of nations having payments due next month. The note called their attention to all their existing indebtedness, including the amounts unpaid by them previously. The British, French and Belgian ambassadors were given similar notes on Saturday.

Today's notes were dispatched on the eve of President Roosevelt's war debts message which probably will be sent to congress sometime tomorrow.

$300,000,000 in Arrears

The state department took cognizance of the Johnson act in asking the debtor nations for their total past due accounts as well as accounts due June 15.

In most instances debtor nations are behind in their payments from June, 1933, and the multiplying principal installments and interest is now around the half billion mark.

Five nations have, in the past, made token payments and they were requested to pay the amounts remaining unpaid at the time the partial payments were remitted.

The thirteen nations owe $174,647,439 in payments falling due June 15, of which $56,633,701 is principal amount, $103,088,891 is interest on total, and $14,924,845 is due to the moratorium.

Approximately $300,000,000 is due from past due accounts.

BRITAIN PUZZLED

London, May 28 (AP)—Government leaders today began considering the thorny question of what attitude to adopt when Great Britain's war debt payment to the United States comes due June 15.

Indications were their decision will be kept secret until shortly before the date set for the remittance.

Several private talks on the debt question followed the arrival, one by one, of the government officials concerned. All of them are expected back in London by tomorrow in preparation for the reassembling of parliament Wednesday.

Wednesday is also the day for cabinet meetings and a review of the debt situation is understood to be scheduled for the forthcoming reunion.

Rockford, Ill., May 28 (AP)—One woman fainted and two men suffered injuries tonight when a tear gas bomb was tossed into a hall where Norman Thomas, former presidential candidate for the Socialist party, was speaking.

A near-panic was created as the fumes spread through the building. The 400 or more persons in the audience dashed for doors, choking and blinded.

One woman fainted as the crowd surged out. She was revived quickly and apparently suffered no ill effects from the gas. Ellis Leckard, Rockford representative for Amtorg Trading corporation, Soviet trading agency in this country, was bruised on the leg. Sitting near the window through which the bomb was tossed, he was struck by it. Edward Copeland, 46, Rockford, suffered a broken shoulder when caught in the crush of the crowd.

When order was restored Thomas continued his address outside, making little comment on the incident other than to say "This is the first time I've ever been gassed while I was speaking."

It was the second time Thomas' attempts to speak in Illinois had been interrupted on his present tour. A few night ago at Taylorville, in the heart of the state's coal mine controversy, sheriff's deputies detained him in the court house for an hour after leading him from the platform where he started to talk. The officers explained that no permit had been given him to speak.

Sawmills Report Employment Gain

Washington, May 28. (AP)—The National Lumber Manufacturers association said sawmill employment in April gained 5.3 per cent over the preceding month and was 53.8 per cent above the same month a year ago. It stated the average payroll for sawmills climbed 9 per cent over the preceding month and was 120.6 above April 1933. Milwork plants reported to the department of labor that April employment was 4.9 per cent above the preceding month and 34 per cent above April 1933. Payrolls climbed 6.1 per cent in April over March and 60.8 per cent above April 1933.

THREE BODIES SOUGHT

Dowagiac, May 28 (AP)—Authorities Monday dragged Darron Lake, Cass county, for the bodies of three Mishawaka, Ind., youths believed to have drowned Sunday night. The youths—Morris De Saer, 19, Morris Oeghorn, 20, and August De Noble, 18—were reported missing by two companions. De Noble's pocketbook was found floating on the lake and an empty rowboat, with one oar missing was also discovered.

Sale of Arms Banned To Bolivia, Paraguay

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, May 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt outlawed the sale of munitions in this country to Bolivia and Paraguay tonight in an unprecedented move to end the disastrous war raging for more than a year in the South American interior.

The chief executive signed a proclamation to that effect under authority of a resolution whipped through congress at his request and warned that all violations "will be rigorously prosecuted."

The proclamation recited that he had been assured of the cooperation of other governments, without whose assistance his advisers believed tonight's action might fall far short of success.

State department authorities American history to compare with the banning of the sale of arms in this country to the belligerants. There have been cases in which the Washington government has banned arms shipments to South American nations in which revolution and civil war were rampant. But there are no historical comparisons for stopping the sale of munitions to two fighting countries.

American manufacturers sold $1,050,045 worth of war implement to Bolivia last year and $94,483 to Paraguay. For the first three months of this year the shipments totaled $509,506 to Bolivia, or at almost a double rate. For the three months sales to Paraguay totaled $175,718.

FRENCH ACES CROSS OCEAN IN 38 HOURS

SILVER MONOPLANE FAILS TO REACH CALIFORNIA

(By The Associated Press)

Courageous French birdmen added new glories to the aviation history of their country yesterday with the successful completion of two trans-Atlantic flights.

Covering 3,700 miles in 38 hours and 28 minutes, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi landed their huge silver monoplane, the Joseph Lebrix, at Floyd Bennett Field, New York. The fliers had spanned the North Atlantic but fell 2,400 miles short of their goal—San Diego, Cal.

Zeppelin Enroute

The heroes of the other flight, Jean Mermoz and M. Darby, crossed the South Atlantic from St. Louis, Senegal, to Natal, Brazil. They made their 1,900 mile trip in 15 hours and 5 minutes as a demonstration of the practicability of a regular South Atlantic air mail service.

Also soaring above the south Atlantic but at a more leisurely gait, was the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, also bearing mail from Europe to South America.

A flat tire ended Pilot William B. Lester's attempt to break the Dallas-Chicago commercial speed plane record when he landed in St. Louis two hours and 52 minutes after the takeoff. The time on his "Vultee," single-motored ship, could not be replaced.

BY R. H. HIPPELHEUSER

New York, May 28 (AP)—The French aces, Captain Maurice Rossi and Lieutenant Paul Codos, conquered the Atlantic by air again today with new honors and, paradoxically, shattered hopes.

Heavy vibration of the wings caused them to land their silver monoplane, the Joseph Lebrix, at Floyd Bennett field at 1:38 p. m. (EST)—clear across the continent from California, their nonstop goal when they left Lebourget field in Paris 38 hours and 28 minutes before.

Made Hop Twice

But they achieved the fame of being first to fly the Atlantic in both directions and were the second to make the westward crossing from Paris to New York.

Their own long distance flight record, set last year from New York to Syria in the same ship, still stands.

The first words of the weary fliers reflected their disappointment. Then after a brief rest at a hotel—and a quart of chilled champagne—they agreed the flight performance was not so bad, after all.

"I am very, very sorry," said

Decrease in Escanaba District Appears Probable

While the enrollment has been increasing, the census of children of school age in the Escanaba district is likely to decline slightly, according to tentative data now being gathered by Miss Carrie Wallace and her two assistants, who are now making the county.

The census reduction is attributed to the fact that families have been moving out of the city limits to farms and gardening plots out in the townships, bordering the city of Escanaba. It is expected, however, that a large proportion of these families will continue to send their children to the schools here.

The 1932 census, the last one checked, shows a record of 1,383,000 children between the ages of five and 19. In a recent radio address entitled, "Counting Michigan's Children," Dr. Eugene Elliott, director of research for the department of public instruction, stated:

"This number of children would make enough for 153,000 baseball teams with 667 children left over for substitutes. Or there would be enough children to make up 125,000 football teams with 727 substitutes. If the basketball season were on there would be enough children to play 138,000 games at one time. If the 1,383,000 children were formed in a column, four abreast each rank three feet apart, the line would fall only a little short of 200 miles long."

Primary School Fund

Dr. Elliott points out that the annual count of Michigan children should be of interest to persons selling to the Michigan public in that it is possible to forecast the total population from this census more easily than from the ten-year periods of the federal census. Prior to the present economic depression, from 30,000 to 40,000 children were annually added to the census roll in excess of those taken from the list. Since 1929, only approximately 10,000 children have been added each year.

The taking of the census provides a basis for the annual distribution of the primary school fund which was $24,000,000 in 1930-31 and 1931-32, the largest distribution ever made in the state. It is estimated that only $14,000,000 will be available in this fund next year.

The extra price is being paid because of the high quality of the eggs, as a result of special feeding methods which have been introduced at the county farm's poultry department.

The infirmary has about 200 hens and 1,000 chicks at the present time.

HAASE SPEAKS AT ROTE MEET

Marinette Judge Tells of Juvenile Delinquency Problems

Insisting that a juvenile court should not be considered as a court, in the general acceptance of that word, but an investigating committee, designed to aid juveniles rather than to punish them, Judge William F. Haase, of the Marinette county court, delivered a strong appeal before members of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday for a more humane understanding of the problems of juvenile delinquents.

Judge Haas recited numerous instances from his personal experience in proof of his contention that sympathetic understanding of youthful characteristics and youthful problems are more necessary in the solution of problems of juvenile delinquency than a rule of thumb enforcement of man made statutes of law. He stressed the fact that juvenile delinquents are too frequently converted into confirmed criminals through the too hasty acceptance of recommendations of over-zealous peace officers, who demand severe punishment for what are in reality trivial offenses on the part of youthful offenders. He offered the case of the notorious gangster John Dillinger, as a perfect example of the mind of a youth being permanently poisoned against both law and society, by harsh punishment for a minor offense in his boyhood days.

The speaker made a fervent plea for a greater interest on the part of all public spirited men and women in the problems of the neglected child and the youth of wholesome environment, found, he asserted, in every community, as an activity that will bear greater results in community betterment than any other movement that can be fostered. Judge Haase also explained the operation of the county court system in Wisconsin, which compares in measure with the probate court of this state. In addition to probate matters and the hearing of juvenile matters, the Marinette county court has jurisdiction in all civil cases involving amounts up to $25,000 and criminal cases in all charges up to the crime of murder. He pointed to the advantage of such a court in the fact that it is in session every working day of every week, making it possible to dispose of many both civil and criminal matters without waiting for the convening of sessions of the circuit court, as required in the court systems of most counties in Michigan.

JUDGES SPLIT OVER DECISION

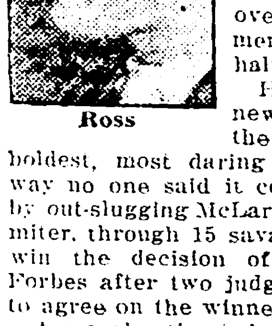
Winner First To Claim Two Championships; 65,000 Attend

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Madison Square Garden Bowl, New York, May 28 (AP)—A little black-haired whirlwind from Chicago, glittery-eyed Barney Ross, wrote a brand new chaper in ring-dom's fantastic history tonight as he added Jimmy McLarnin's welterweight crown to his own lightweight championship and ended the domination the Vancouver Irishman has held over Jewish ringmen for the past half dozen years.



Ross

He carved his new record into the books in the boldest, most daring manner, the way no one said it could be done, by out-slugging McLarnin, the dynamiter, through 15 savage rounds to win the decision of Referee Ed Forbes after two judges had failed to agree on the winner.

A crowd estimated at 65,000, paid $225,000 to see the match.

In the minds of that huge throng there was little reason for the indecision of the judges. Most of the experts agreed with them.

McLarnin

From the second through the eighth round, the dynamic little Ross tore into the bigger, heavier McLarnin and punched with him, welcoming every exchange as few men over the Irishman's twelve year career ever had dared to do.

He started blood seeping from Jimmy's nose in the fourth round with left hooks that crackled into the champion's head with the snap of a black snake whip.

Neither took a count in the round that turned the tide momentarily for the Irishman who in his thumping prime smashed out Kid Kaplan, Sid Terris, Al Singer, Joey Sangor, Ruby Goldstein, and even the great Benny Leonard himself before colliding this night with a different type of Jewish fighter—a boy with a 'jaw of steel and the courage of a crusader.

And the little daredevil from Chicago needed all his bravery from the end of the ninth, which McLarnin had earned clearly before the knockdown, through the thirteenth, where he got command of the situation again.

In those five rounds, counting the ninth as well as the thirteenth, which was taken from McLarnin by Referee Ed Forbes because of a low blow, Jimmy was the cherub from hell he has been so aptly called.

Can't Keep Pace

Blood dripped from Barney's lips as early as the fourth round, but it was the only visible damage, aside from red blotches on the side, that McLarnin could inflict even at the height of the storm. And in the fourteenth it was Jimmy, the devastating Irishman, who could keep the pace no longer.

"Keep fighting, Jimmy. Keep fighting."

It was like trying to call a wind out of the dead air of a calm at sea. Jimmy staggered on to the end, his punch gone, his strength exhausted. He was so heart broken at the decision that he hurried from the ring, tears streaming down his face, and away before anyone could reach him.

EBEL, HELLWICK OTHER WINNERS

Borchert Kayos Betts in First Round; Haindl Is Victor

In the feature bout on the all star amateur boxing program here last night, Joe Anderson, Gladstone ring favorite, won an unpopular decision over Joe LaFleur, Escanaba scrapper, at the exhibition building, state fairgrounds. The announcement of the decision was greeted with a chorus of lusty booes from the large crowd of fans, although Anderson's supporters countered with a round of cheers and hand clapping.

Bert Hellwick, 131, Manitowoc, defeated Mike Carl, 129, Cedar River.

The LaFleur-Joe Anderson scrap was tame the first round but the Gladstone battler concededly held a narrow edge. The battlers got down to business in the second round, however, and before the round was over the boys were clouting each other lustily. The third round was a torrid one and brought the fans into a frenzy. Anderson missed terrific punches aimed at LaFleur's head repeately during this stanza and the Esky boy scored with telling counter blows, right swings which caught Anderson flush on the head and face four times in rapid succession. Anderson recovered sufficiently, however, to land a few hard smashes to LaFleur's head just before the gong ended.

Ebel Beats Roy

Willmer Van, Green Bay division Golden Gloves champion for the past two years, easily defeated Omar Crocker, hard punching little fellow from Iron Mountain. Van, showing fine ring technique, had the advantage throughout and won in a breeze. Crocker apparently was aiming for an opportunity to score his much heralded knockout punch but the chance never came.

Luke Ebel, well tanned and in superb condition, gave Roy Anderson, Gladstone bulldog, a nasty pasting in a bout which was for four two minute rounds instead of the conventional three three-minute rounds. Ebel piled up a wide margin in the second and third rounds and had the tough Upbay youngster groggy just before the third frame ended. The fourth round, however, was comparatively tame, Anderson making a fine recovery and Ebel apparently content to coast to victory.

Bert Hellwick, 16-year old Manitowoc boy, evened his score with Mike Carl, winning a popular decision from the boy who has been booked from Melrose Park, Stephenson and more lately from Cedar River. Hellwick won all three rounds, although by narrow margins. The boys fought here previously, Carl getting the nod due to his aggressiveness after the judges returned a point score of 45-all.

Borchert Lands Kayo

Billy Borchert of Appleton proved himself a fitting substitute for Milt Kell of Wilson by scoring the only knockout of the show. Borchert put Woody Betts, pride of Marquette, away for the ten count in two minutes of the first round.

Betts breezed out of his corner full of energy and confident. He ran plump into Borchert's left and then took two more hard lefts to the face. Betts shook off the blows, still eager for battle. Betts missed a right smash and Borchert countered with a right smash of his own, a terrific wallop which Betts caught flush on the jaw. Betts dropped down the canvas, badly hurt, but he bounced up at the count of four and started weaving in again. The Appleton boy cleverly maneuvered his foe over to Borchort's corner and then he sunk a short left into Betts' ribs. The Marquette boy fell to the mat and writhed on the floor while Referee Sundling tolled him out.

Johnny Haindl of Cooks won his second start out of the novice class but his decision over Mike Kenjala of Iron Mountain was decidedly unpopular. Kenjala was the aggressor throughout the match and seemed to have the decision well in the bag. Haindl, backing up most of the way, landed few telling blows and the decision was a surprise to the fans, even to Haindl's enthusiastic supporters.

ON BAT SPREE, TIGES WIN, 12-6

Lefty Grove Knocked Out of Box During Rally in Sixth

Detroit, May 28 (AP)—The Tigers went on a batting spree today, Hank Greenberg driving in four runs with two homers, and defeated Boston 12 to 6. Lefty Grove was knocked out of the box during a four-run Tiger rally in the sixth, having allowed 12 hits.

Vic Frasier was on the mound for the Tigers and Ray Hayworth, instead of Manager Mickey Cochrane, behind the plate.

Cissell singled for the Red Sox in the first, but died in a double play. The Tigers went out in order.

Porter singled in the Boston second, but was forced for the third out. Gehringer doubled in the Tiger half, advanced on Rogell's sacrifice bunt and scored on Hayworth's fly.

The Red Sox got that run back in the third on a pass to Lary and singles by Cissell and Werber. Owen doubled to open the Tiger half, but couldn't advance.

Greenberg Boots Homer

Ferrell singled with two out in the Boston fourth but Lary fanned for the third out. The Tigers recaptured the lead with a vengeance in their half when Rogell doubled. Hayworth singled and Greenberg boosted the ball over the left field screen for a homer. Owen became the third casualty trying to stretch a single into a double.

The Rod Sox put on a four-run rally to regain the lead in the fifth, Marberry replacing Frasier after Grove, Cissell and Werber, first three men up, had walked. Morgan singled, scoring Grove and Cissell. Johnson hit into a double play, Werber scoring. Reynolds doubled and Porter singled, Reynolds scoring. Ferrell grounded for the third out. Marberry singled for the Tigers, but there was no scoring.

Boston added another run in the sixth when Lary singled, advanced on a wild pitch and Grove's sacrifice and scored on Cissell's single.

The Tigers knocked Grove from the box in their half of the sixth with a four-run assault featured by Greenberg's second homer of the game. With two out, Hayworth doubler and Greenberg lifted the ball over the scoreboard. Owen singled, Marberry walked and Fox singled, scoring Owen. Goslin also singled, scoring Marberry. Henry Johnson replaced Grove and induced Walker to fly out.

There was no scoring in the seventh and Boston went out in order in the eighth. The Tigers, however, got four more runs, all with two out in their half of the eigath. Marberry, Fox and Goslin singled, Marberry scoring. Walker was safe on Lary's low throw to first, Fox scoring. Gehringer beat out an infield hit, Goslin and Walker scoring.

Cissell and Morgan singled in the Boston ninth but neither could score.

RELAY ENTRIES ARE RECEIVED

From 12-15 Schools Are Expected; Metcalfe Can't Come

From 12 to 15 schools, about the same as last year, are expected to enter the seventh annual Upper Peninsula Relays here next Saturday, Principal John Lemmer of the Escanaba high school announced yesterday.

What outstanding star, if any, will offer the exhibition feature this year which has been a headliner of every Relays program in the past is a problem that still confronts Relays officials. Willis Ward, all around star of Michigan, was long considered for the spot but the Wolverine negro injured his leg recently and announced that he would be unable to participate in the Relays.

Then the Relays officials turned to Ralph Metcalfe, the world's fastest human of Marquette university, a colored boy who performed at the Relays two years ago and requested him to give a repeat performance here this year. After it was learned Ward would not be able to come to the Relays, upper peninsula athletes requested that Metcalfe be urged to reappear here. Metcalfe, however, also has injured his leg and reported it was not possible for him to come to Escanaba next Saturday.

Regardless of the lack of an outstanding performer to give an exhibition at the Relays, the classic event in itself should prove highly interesting and entertaining.

A new special event appears on the program this year. It is the Relays century, a special 100 yard dash open to all schools. The trophy for the event is donated by the Escanaba Daily Press to be given to the school winning the race. The individuals will get gold medals for first place, silver for second and bronze for third in all special events. In the relay events, the four boys on the winning teams will get gold medals each.

The schools entered in the Relays to date are: Class B, Ironwood, Kingsford, Marquette, Escanaba; Class C, St. Joseph, Lake Linden; Class D, Bark River township. Entries from other schools are expected during the week.

Escanaba To Enter State Tennis Meet

Escanaba high school will be represented at the Michigan tennis tournament, which will be held at Ann Arbor next Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Principal John A. Lemmer.

Chester Olson, upper peninsula high school singles champion, and Harry Henkin, No. 2 player of Escanaba high school, will leave Thursday to compete in the Ann Arbor tournament.

JUMBO ELLIOTT NIPS CUBS, 5-3

Burly Boston Southpaw Lasts 7 Innings In Rubber Clash

Boston, May 28, (AP)—Jim "Jumbo" Elliott made his first pitching start for the Braves today and worked well enough to get credit for the 5-3 decision the Tribesmen gained in their rubber clash with the Chicago Cubs.

Fred Frankhouse was scheduled to work but he reported slightly indisposed and Manager Bill McKechnie was forced to call upon the burly left-hander, who lasted until the seventh inning when Marty McManus helped the Cubs make their three-run rally by booting two grounders. Bob Smith relieved Elliott and checked the Chicago surge in abrupt fashion.

Reds Even Series With Dodgers by Winning 8 to 1

Brooklyn, May 28 (AP)—Behind the steady pitching of Benny Frey, the Cincinnati Reds earned an even break in the two-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers, winning today's contest 8 to 1.

Frey kept the Dodgers nine hits well scattered and did not allow a run after the first inning. The Reds, however, effectively used 16 safe blows off Art Herring. Jim Bottomley led the Cincinnati attack with three singles but Wes Schulmerich hit the longest wallop of the game, a home run into the left field stands in the sixth inning.

Escanaba Team Wins in 14-Inning Battle, 11 to 8

Garden, May 28 (AP)—The Escanaba South Siders won a 14 inning ball game from Garden here yesterday, 11 to 8. It was the South Siders' second victory in as many starts. Next week they will open their home season with the always powerful Perkins club as opposition.

The South Siders led 6 to 3 in the ninth inning but walks and errors enabled Garden to tie it up at 6-all. Each team made two runs in the 11th and then in the 14th frame the South Siders came through with three runs and Oseen, South Side hurler, ended the long drawn out battle by whiffing the three men who faced him in the last of the 14th. The fracas lasted five hours.

Fred LaFleur hurled 5-23 innings for the South Siders. He struck out five and gave up four hits. Oseen twirled 8 1-3 innings, fanned 11 and yielded six hits. The South Siders got 14 hits off Dotsch and Trucky.
